Third National Offers Bid To Purchase Marfield Home

The Third National Bank of Circleville has offered a bid to purchase the Marfield property at Main and Pickaway Sts. as a site for future banking facilities.

An ordinance seeking a zoning reclassification of the property was submitted last night to City Council. The area currently falls under a class B multiple residence classification.

The legislative request asks for a reclassification to class C commercial. Offering the proposal for council consideration were Ray Davis and Lemuel Weldon of the Crist, Davis and Weldon Law firm, attorneys for executors of the Marfield estate.

The attorneys pointed out that the site must be rezoned before it could be used as a banking facility. They also noted that the Third National's bid appears to be the best of several offered for the property.

SPOKESMEN for the Third National today said they definitely are interested in the Marfield property from the standpoint of future expansion. However, they explained that the broad scope of such a project makes it impossible to establish definite plans at the present.

Actual purchase of the property, decisions on how to utilize the old Marfield residence and the type of banking facilities to be erected, bank officials said, would hinge on numerous key factors — including outcome of the zoning reclassification request now before council. The Third National presently is headquartered at 107 W. Main St.

The city lawmakers, following routine legal procedure, referred the rezoning ordinance back to the Planning & Zoning Commission for further study.

Members of the planning and zoning panel will have an opportunity to approve or disapprove or recommend changes to the proposal. Their findings will then be returned to council for final legislative action.

The planning and zoning body has already forwarded a letter to council concerning the ordinance. The correspondence expressed a favorable outlook toward reclassifying the property.

Council observers noted that reclassification of the area would not constitute "spot rezoning." Property immediately west of the Marfield site is

Wary Senators Give OK to U.S. Viet Nam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warily, often reluctantly, most of the senators ready to prescribe a course in South Viet Nam today chose current U.S. policy — but called for efforts to make American military backing more effective.

Many of them saw it as a temporary measure, a prologue to negotiations aimed at settling the guerrilla warfare in the Communist-beleaguered nation.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., offered this terse prescription: "Continue present policy until we can negotiate from a position of strength."

"Our present policy," argued Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, "is leading us toward the same calamity as befell the French 10 years ago."

He called for negotiations now, pointing toward a neutrality that would be guaranteed by the United Nations or a special international commission.

There were conflicting undercurrents of Senate sentiment for outright U.S. withdrawal or for expansion of the U.S.-backed warfare. But those views came only from a handful of senators.

Most of the legislators who responded to an Associated Press survey shunned the idea of pulling out, of committing U.S. combat troops or of extending the war into Communist North Viet Nam.

One Republican, J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware, came up with a new formula. He suggested a U.S. call for Vietnamese elections within three or four months to choose a government supported by the people.

"Our future conduct in South Viet Nam would depend on whether or not the new government wanted us to keep up our assistance or to get out," he said.

Pending an election, Boggs said, the United States should continue its present military and economic assistance.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana spoke for the consensus when he offered this view of current U.S. policy:

"For the present, we have no other choice which in my judgment would fit the needs of the situation."

He added the United States should stand ready to negotiate for neutralization of South Viet Nam. "If it contains promise of a just and guaranteed solution, fine," Mansfield said. "If not, it can be discarded."

Man Halts Sons' Fight with Bullets

GULF SHORES, Ala. (AP) — An elderly man shot his two sons when he was unable to separate them during a fight, police said Tuesday.

Police Chief Fletcher Phillips said Ralph E. Holden, 74, told authorities he shot one son and then another after they got into an argument and began fighting.

Ralph E. Holden Jr., 44, and Robert C. Holden, 31 each suffered 22-caliber bullet wounds in the stomach and were taken to a hospital.

Phillips said no charges had been filed.

Rocky Asks Dems To OK Spending Hike

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller appealed to the legislature's new Democratic majority today, to support a program that would boost state spending by more than $400 million, primarily for education and general state aid.

Approval of the far-reaching program, contained in Rockefeller's seventh annual message to the opening session of the legislature, would require substantial tax increases, perhaps a statewide sales tax.

It also would push the state's budget beyond $3 billion — to about $3.3 billion — for the first time in history.

The governor asked the legislature to approve a $200-million expansion of the state's public-housing program — and send the proposal to the voters, who last November rejected a plan for a $165-million increase.

Rockefeller called for a mandatory, statewide system of personal permanent registration, and renewed his request for repeal of the state's railroad full crew laws.

Nurse Home Aged Aid To Be Boosted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Recipients of state aid for the aged who live in nursing homes will receive a $10 increase to $180 a month beginning July 1, Gov. James A. Rhodes announced Tuesday.

The governor, describing the estimated 13,000 persons who receive such aid as "Ohio's neediest," said the increase will be possible within a balanced budget and with no increase in taxes.

State Finance Director Richard Krabach estimated the boost will cost $3 million over the next two years. The $180 monthly maximum includes $54 in federal funds provided under a matching formula.

Dems Beef Up Their Control

House Committee Makeup Revised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats have beefed up their already substantial control of House committees, placing themselves in a stronger position to push President Johnson's legislative program.

The most sweeping revision of House committee makeup in 25 years especially brightens Democratic prospects for health care, education and immigration measures.

With the single exception of the Rules Committee, which continues to be made up of 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans, the Democrats in control of the House dealt themselves bigger shares of committee strength.

The outnumbered Republicans went along, grateful at least that none of their members who were re-elected will have to lose a committee assignment in the shakeup.

The decisions were made Tuesday at a bargaining session described by House Democratic and Republican leaders as amicable.

A key decision was to change the ratio of the Ways and Means Committee from 15 Democratic and 10 Republican members to 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans.

This appeared virtually to ensure — if any further assurance should be necessary — that the committee will approve some sort of health care plan for the aged related to Social Security.

The committee had been the graveyard of Social Security health care plans, consistently opposed by all the Republicans, and by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and enough other Democrats to make up a majority.

Mills has indicated he would be amenable to a compromise version in which taxation for health care and for the traditional Social Security benefits would be kept separate.

The Appropriations Committee, divided 30-20 with Democrats in control since 1951, now will have a 34-16 ratio.

$8,000 Car Is Mystery To Receiver

NEWARK, Calif. (AP) — Thomas Weaver, 21, a family man of modest means, has looked a gift horse in the mouth and found a fully paid for, $8,000 foreign convertible.

The San Francisco Bay area sugar worker is mystified by his apparent good fortune.

It began a week ago. Weaver opened a letter and found a bill of lading inside for the car.

He telephoned Long Beach, Calif., where he had lived previously and where he knew another Thomas Weaver lives.

His namesake in Long Beach knew nothing about the car. He phoned the shipping agents who had advised him the luxury vehicle was on its way, aboard the freighter Marie G. Georgalis, due in San Francisco on Jan. 15.

The answer was the same: "You have the bill of lading. It's not our car. It's your car."

"Darn right, I'd like to have the car," Weaver said in a telephone interview. "But I can't afford to pay the shipping cost and the insurance might run too high."

The young father of two, recently discharged from the Navy, is certain he didn't purchase the car.

"But it could have been my mother-in-law. She put our family's name in a drawing, and doesn't remember when or where or for what."

If he does get to keep the car, Weaver said, he'll sell it to pay bills.

BARN BURNS — Fire leveled this barn on the Arthur Leist farm in Washington Twp. early today. The blaze was visible for several miles. Here an unidentified fireman directs a stream of water on the surrounding area to keep flames from spreading.

Early Morning Fire Destroys Washington Twp. Dairy Barn

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a dairy barn and its contents early today at the Arthur Leist farm in Washington Twp.

Firefighters from three departments — Circleville,

Amanda and Stoutsville — were called to the blaze. The farm is on the Morris-Leist Road.

The fire was discovered by Leist. He had just finished feeding 15 head of cattle housed in the building and had returned to his home shortly after 7 a.m.

Leist said he glanced back toward the barn and noticed a light flickering in the haymow.

WHILE the Circleville Fire Department was being summoned, Leist and his son-in-law, Nelson Stevens, removed cattle and a pony from the barn. Some milking equipment housed in the building was also saved.

However, an estimated 40 tons of hay and 20 tons of straw burned with the barn.

Deputy Sheriff John Wolford, who investigated, said there was no wiring near the source of the fire. He also noted that firemen at the scene ruled out the possibility of spontaneous combustion.

An estimate of total damage was not available. The building was 60-feet long and 40-feet wide.

Woman Killed In Columbus

A former Circleville resident was killed about 7 a.m. today while crossing a street in Columbus.

Columbus Police said Mrs. Renick (Florence) Valentine, 46, of Columbus, was killed while crossing W. Town St. She was not in a crosswalk area, police said.

She was struck by an auto driven by Thomas E. Dudley, also of Columbus. The driver was not cited.

Mrs. Valentine, a native of Circleville, is survived by her husband, Renick W. Valentine, a daughter, Mrs. Don Nafziger, Columbus; three grandchildren; her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kerns, Route 4; a brother, Dr. V. D. Kerns, N. Scioto St.; and a sister, Mrs. Carl Anderson, Route 4.

Schoedinger Funeral Home, Columbus, is completing arrangements for the funeral and burial.

Antifilibuster Drive Opens

Senate May Put Limit on Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate heads today into another scrap over moves to strengthen its antifilibuster rule.

The issue was to be joined with introduction of a resolution by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., to permit filibusters to be halted by three-fifths of the senators voting — but otherwise to retain present Senate rules.

Present regulations require a two-thirds majority of senators voting to clamp a time limit on debate.

The issue has been battled over at the start of each new Congress in recent years.

A big difference this time is that a Southern filibuster last year against the most comprehensive civil rights bill in history was cut off under the present rule requiring a two-thirds majority of senators voting to clamp a time limit on debate.

As a result, some of the emotional fervor has been drained off. It long had been argued that the rule barred the passage of meaningful civil rights legislation.

"This fallacy has been completely destroyed," Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said after Southern senators met in his office Tuesday and vowed an all-out fight against any change in rules to make it easier to limit debate.

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the new assistant Senate Democratic leader, filibustered against the civil rights bill last year. He said Tuesday he favors retention of the present two-thirds rule and hopes senators pressing for its revision can be persuaded to call off the fight.

"I don't think it is a civil rights question any more," Long said.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen is aligned with the Southerners in opposition to any rules changes.

Percy Likes Taft As GOP Leader

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican Charles Percy, who was defeated in the Democratic landslide in his race for governor of Illinois in November, Tuesday night called for the resignation of Dean Burch as chairman of the Republican National Committee. Percy was a guest on ABC television's Les Crane Show.

He said he wasn't dissatisfied with Burch as a person but that the party should have as its chairman someone with a "broader base of appeal." As a possible successor to Burch he named Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio, who, Percy said, could create party unity.

Withdrawal From UN Eyed

Peking Approves; Moscow Doesn't

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Soviet Union and Communist China were locked in a diplomatic tug-of-war today over Indonesia's decision to withdraw from the United Nations.

Peking approved, Moscow didn't.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai A. Mikhailov met Tuesday night with Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio. Reliable diplomatic sources said the Russian told Subandrio the Kremlin believes Indonesian withdrawal from the United Nations will aggravate the tense situation in eastern Asia.

Red Chinese Ambassador Yao Chung-ming called on Subandrio twice today to communicate Peking's solid backing for President Sukarno's decision. Peking radio earlier today expressed "firm support" of the Indonesian action, and the official Peking People's Daily called the United Nations "a vile place for a few powers to share the spoils."

It was the first expression of support from a foreign government for Sukarno's decision.

U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones and the envoys of Pakistan, Czechoslovakia, and Poland also called on Subandrio. Their meetings all were reported related to Indonesia's withdrawal from the world organization.

Subandrio is scheduled to meet Thursday with the ambassadors from the United Arab Republic, Algeria and the Philippines.

The Soviets also are known to fear the threat of Communist Chinese domination over this part of the world and have re-

Mrs. Oswald Is Now Coed In Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The pretty University of Michigan coed wore a babushka-like scarf around her head and a blue skirt and sweater as she met with newsmen for a brief chat.

Although she resembled most of the thousands of other coeds on the Ann Arbor campus, the student was Marina Oswald, 23, widow of the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The Russian-born Mrs. Oswald began classes Tuesday in the university's English Language Institute, which specializes in teaching the language to foreigners.

Although she said she is under contract to write a book about her life with Lee Harvey Oswald and has been instructed to grant no interviews, Mrs. Oswald talked with reporters and posed briefly for photographers.

Asked if she planned to date while at the university, Mrs. Oswald was puzzled by the question. She was told it meant "going out socially."

"I hope to meet fellow students while here," she replied cautiously in heavily accented English.

Mrs. Oswald said she planned to return to Dallas at the end of her eight-week course.

"I've been treated well in Dallas, and the people there are warm," she said.

Mrs. Oswald's visit to Michigan is being sponsored by the First Presbyterian church of Ann Arbor.

$30 Million Satellite Tracking Unit Burns

EGLEIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — Fire that destroyed a $30-million satellite and missile tracking complex was extinguished today after an all-night effort by 75 military and civilian firefighters.

The radar complex was designed to detect, track and identify numerous satellites thousands of miles out in space. It utilized a new concept in which the radar antenna remained stationary.

Amanda and Stoutsville — were called to the blaze. The farm is on the Morris-Leist Road.

The fire was discovered by Leist. He had just finished feeding 15 head of cattle housed in the building and had returned to his home shortly after 7 a.m.

Leist said he glanced back toward the barn and noticed a light flickering in the haymow.

While the Circleville Fire Department was being summoned, Leist and his son-in-law, Nelson Stevens, removed cattle and a pony from the barn. Some milking equipment housed in the building was also saved.

However, an estimated 40 tons of hay and 20 tons of straw burned with the barn.

Deputy Sheriff John Wolford, who investigated, said there was no wiring near the source of the fire. He also noted that firemen at the scene ruled out the possibility of spontaneous combustion.

An estimate of total damage was not available. The building was 60-feet long and 40-feet wide.

Woman Killed In Columbus

A former Circleville resident was killed about 7 a.m. today while crossing a street in Columbus.

Columbus Police said Mrs. Renick (Florence) Valentine, 46, of Columbus, was killed while crossing W. Town St. She was not in a crosswalk area, police said.

She was struck by an auto driven by Thomas E. Dudley, also of Columbus. The driver was not cited.

Mrs. Valentine, a native of Circleville, is survived by her husband, Renick W. Valentine, a daughter, Mrs. Don Nafziger, Columbus; three grandchildren; her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kerns, Route 4; a brother, Dr. V. D. Kerns, N. Scioto St.; and a sister, Mrs. Carl Anderson, Route 4.

Schoedinger Funeral Home, Columbus, is completing arrangements for the funeral and burial.

Withdrawal From UN Eyed

Peking Approves; Moscow Doesn't

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Soviet Union and Communist China were locked in a diplomatic tug-of-war today over Indonesia's decision to withdraw from the United Nations. Peking approved. Moscow didn't.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai A. Mikhaïlov met Tuesday night with Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio. Reliable diplomatic sources said the Russian told Subandrio the Kremlin believes Indonesian withdrawal from the United Nations will aggravate the tense situation in eastern Asia.

Red Chinese Ambassador Yao Chung-ming called on Subandrio twice today to communicate Peking's solid backing for President Sukarno's decision. Peking radio earlier today expressed "firm support" of the Indonesian action, and the official Peking People's Daily called the United Nations "a vile place for a few powers to share the spoils."

It was the first expression of support from a foreign government for Sukarno's decision.

U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones and the envoys of Pakistan, Czechoslovakia, and Poland also called on Subandrio. Their meetings all were reported related to Indonesia's withdrawal from the world organization.

Subandrio is scheduled to meet Thursday with the ambassadors from the United Arab Republic, Algeria and the Philippines.

The Soviets also are known to fear the threat of Communist Chinese domination over this part of the world and have re-

Mrs. Oswald Is Now Coed In Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The pretty University of Michigan coed wore a babushka-like scarf around her head and a blue skirt and sweater as she met with newsmen for a brief chat.

Although she resembled most of the thousands of other coeds on the Ann Arbor campus, the student was Marina Oswald, 23, widow of the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The Russian-born Mrs. Oswald began classes Tuesday in the university's English Language Institute, which specializes in teaching the language to foreigners.

Although she said she is under contract to write a book about her life with Lee Harvey Oswald and has been instructed to grant no interviews, Mrs. Oswald talked with reporters and posed briefly for photographers.

Asked if she planned to date while at the university, Mrs. Oswald was puzzled by the question. She was told it meant "going out socially."

"I hope to meet fellow students while here," she replied cautiously in heavily accented English.

Mrs. Oswald said she planned to return to Dallas at the end of her eight-week course.

"I've been treated well in Dallas, and the people there are warm," she said.

Mrs. Oswald's visit to Michigan is being sponsored by the First Presbyterian church of Ann Arbor.

$30 Million Satellite Tracking Unit Burns

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — Fire that destroyed a $30-million satellite and missile tracking complex was extinguished today after an all-night effort by 75 military and civilian firefighters.

The radar complex was designed to detect, track and identify numerous satellites thousands of miles out in space. It utilized a new concept in which the radar antenna remained stationary.

Stock Mart Still Climbs

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued early this afternoon to demonstrate its approval of President Johnson's State of the Union message.

It resumed its sharp advance of Tuesday.

Prices moved higher as the session wore on.

Trading was moderately active.

Steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, utilities, chemicals, rails and airlines participated in the wide ranging advance.

An accumulation of orders delayed opening of trading in IBM. It was nearly 7 points higher upon opening and then eased back to a gain of 6.

Du Pont, a big gainer Tuesday, added nearly 3 points and helped bolster the averages.

General Motors was strong, picking up more than a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon had climbed 1.2 to 325.6 with industrials up 2.6, rails up .1 and utilities up .3.

Mrs. McFarren was born May 25, 1886, in Adelphi, the daughter of Robert and Mary Dennig Swinehart.

Survivors include her husband, Harvey McFarren, and one sister, Mrs. Horace Curtis, Dayton.

Funeral services will be 2 p. m. Thursday in the Hill Funeral Home, Kingston. Burial will be in Green Summit Cemetery, Adelphi.

Battery Is Taken From Parked Auto

Harry Smith, Route 2, reported his auto was burglarized while it was parked along the Mt. Sterling-Commercial Point Road.

Smith said the car had a flat tire. He had returned to change the tire and discovered the left front window broken. A 12-volt battery was taken, although nothing was missing from the interior of the auto.

Burglary Probed By Sheriff's Deputy

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating a burglary committed during the night at Porter's Laundry, N. Court St.

Deputy John Wolford said a vending machine was forced. Approximately $2.50 in coins was taken.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to force another machine.

THE MARFIELD premises, located at 166 E. Main St., entails lots No. 221 and No. 222.

The property, owned by Mrs. Mary Marfield until her death several months ago, is part of the Marfield estate. The home, considered one of the older ones in Circleville, has been recognized for its historical significance.

According to local history buffs, some thought has been directed toward the possibility of fashioning the old homeplace into a museum. However, the financial burden of such a project has been termed too great to overcome.

In other business, the solons adopted a resolution accepting taxation amounts and rates as determined by the Pickaway County Budget Commission. The measure authorized the necessary tax levies and their certification to the county auditor.

Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe reported that four firms have picked up specifications concerning bids for a new aerial ladder pumper truck for his department. He also submitted an annual report on firefighting operations during 1964.

Passenger Train Derails Injuring Pair

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The two engine units and six cars of a Cincinnati-to-Chicago Pennsylvania Railroad mail and passenger train were derailed today at Collinsville, about 11 miles north of here, but only two persons were injured.

The injured were listed D. F. Sergeant, a fireman, and Willard McConkney, a mail clerk. Both were brought here to Mercy Hospital. McConkney did not appear to be seriously hurt and Sergeant complained of hip and chest pains.

There were only two passenger cars on the train and one of them did not leave the rails.

The two engine units toppled over and three cars plunged off the right-of-way. Three other cars were derailed but remained on the right-of-way.

Approximately 500 feet of track was reported to have been torn up and the railroad office in Cincinnati said a bus would take the passengers to Logansport, Ind., for boarding of another train.

The Butler County sheriff's office said the engineer reported he saw the track appear to be "buckling" and that he applied the brakes but was unable to stop in time to avoid the derailment.

Vietnamese Seek Revenge But Can't Contact Reds

BINH GIA, South Viet Nam (AP) — More than 800 South Vietnamese troops moved out of embattled Binh Gia today into a new operation zone nearby, seeking revenge for the Viet Cong success of the past week.

For the second day no important contact developed. An enemy sniper with a shotgun wounded one paratrooper. The sniper was captured immediately.

Eighty helicopters transferred the troops under the watchful eye of Lt. Gen. John L. Throckmorton, deputy U.S. commander in Viet Nam. No enemy fire met the helicopters as they landed the troops.

Fifteen armored personnel carriers were moving toward the new helicopter landing zone, but it did not seem that the Viet Cong intended to fight during the day.

The Roman Catholic peasants in Binh Gia, 40 miles east of Saigon, were getting jittery about the exodus of government forces from the area immediately around the town. Only about 400 Vietnamese troops with 12 U.S. advisers remained in the town. Rumors circulated that the Viet Cong had up to 2,000 troops in the vicinity.

In Saigon, the government issued a communique denying rumors of impending negotiations with the Communists to end the war. Premier Tran Va Huong said spreading such rumors was punishable under a law outlawing "communism and neutralism."

Communist China hailed the Binh Gia battle as a "brilliant victory" for the Communist forces. It said it showed the Viet Cong no longer are guerrilla fighters but have grown into a "formidable liberation army."

However, this did not mean that the U.S.-backed South Vietnamese government would stop fighting, said an editorial in the official Peking People's Daily.

It continued: "On the contrary, the logic of the reactionaries is: the worse the failure, the more trouble it will create. They will never resign themselves to their own doom."

Traffic Control Problems Discussed in City Council

City Council last night kicked off its 1965 season with a brief and fast-moving session.

The regular discussion period included some sharp comments on traffic control, including restricted left turns and crosswalk safety.

John Jenkins, safety committee chairman, said he feels there is a need for a program to more thoroughly inform motorists on left turn restrictions and proper procedure at the city's two crosswalks on East and West Main St.

three drive-in bank facilities.

SAFETY Director Miller Fissell said double yellow lines have been painted in the vicinity of the drive-in facilities and that bank officials are urging their customers not to make left turns. He said signs also have been placed in noticeable locations.

Fissell added that it is not feasible to place concrete dividers in the middle of streets to prevent the turns. He said they constitute a safety hazard.

Jenkins countered that a more specific, informative program is needed to educate drivers and pedestrians alike. He suggested a project that could be conducted through the newspaper and other informational means.

Conditional Pardon Given Ohio Escapee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes issued a conditional pardon today to Walter H. Maston, 47-year-old truck driver who escaped from an Ohio prison in 1950.

Maston was serving a sentence for a bigamous marriage in Akron in 1948.

Upon his escape, he returned to his wife and their 7-year-old son in Wilson, Conn. Later they went to Rhode Island where Maston works for a trucking firm in providence.

Police arrested him on a tip and Maston fought extradition to Ohio.

After an investigation showing that he apparently had been living an exemplary life and now is the father of nine children, the Ohio governor issued the pardon.

He said extradition proceedings would be dropped if Maston met the conditions.

Those conditions provide that senger train were derailed today as though on parole.

Cosa Nostra Squealer Writes 1200-Page Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has its hands what might be considered a rare manuscript — but it can't figure out what to do with it.

The title is "The Real Thing" and the author of the 1,200-page book is Joseph Valachi, 60, new to the writing game.

While its contents are allegedly solid fact, it reads like crime fiction.

The convicted murderer and narcotics pusher wrote his memoirs during long months in the District of Columbia Jail.

He has resided there since September 1963, when he spilled to federal authorities and a Senate committee the secrets of the underworld syndicate he called the Cosa Nostra.

A Justice Department spokesman said department lawyers are scrutinizing the book to determine whether its contents may be made public and, if so, how.

William G. Hundley, who heads the department's organized crime section and who shepherded Valachi during his revelations, said the Valachi book generally tends to confirm and amplify what he told the department and the Senate committee.

"There's nothing especially new in the thing," Hundley said. "But it's pretty interesting and fairly well written."

Hundley's boss, Asst. Atty. Gen. Herbert J. Miller, has a different view.

"I couldn't get through the thing," he said.

The department still has not decided whether to take Valachi from his solitary cell in the District jail. They still think it would be dangerous for him to mix with the population of federal prisons. It was reported in 1963 that the underworld had placed a $100,000 bounty on him for breaking its blood oath of secrecy.

In addition to estimated receipts there was a general fund balance of $92,044.37 on Jan. 1.

Here is a breakdown of the estimated 1965 appropriations as adopted this week by the Board of Education.

Personal services — $835,150; this includes salaries of all employees, allowance for substitute teachers' salaries, enumeration fees and the projection of salaries of four additional teachers due to increased enrollment next September.

Supplies — $54,550; this includes all school bus supplies (gas, tires, etc.), text books, library books, educational supplies, gas (for heating), coal custodial supplies and other miscellaneous supplies.

Materials for maintenance — $4,250; this includes equipment and furniture, buildings and grounds, motor vehicle equipment other than for buses.

Equipment replacement — $12,400; this includes a school bus, educational equipment, custodial equipment and motor vehicle equipment other than for buses.

Contract for open order services — $38,925; this includes school building repair, bus repair, other motor vehicle repair, all equipment repairs, water, electricity, telephone, transportation and tuition to other districts for special students, advertising, board employee travel, freight and postage.

Fixed charges — $3,300; this includes insurance, and rental of coliseum for junior high and elementary athletic program.

Capital outlay — $5,300; this includes improvement of sites (landscaping etc.) and additional new equipment.

Other — $4,367.37; This figure includes the projected general fund balance for 1965.

Deaths

MRS. GEORGIA MCFARREN — Mrs. Georgie Swinehart McFarren, 78, Adelphi, died 11:15 a. m. yesterday in Berger Hospital.

Mrs. McFarren was born May 25, 1886, in Adelphi, the daughter of Robert and Mary Dennig Swinehart.

She was a member of the Adelphi Methodist Church and the W.S.C.S.

Survivors include her husband, Harvey McFarren, and one sister, Mrs. Horace Curtis, Dayton.

Funeral services will be 2 p. m. Thursday in the Hill Funeral Home, Kingston. Burial will be in Green Summit Cemetery, Adelphi.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 6 p. m. today.

CHS Senior Plans To Enroll at EU

Marinel Leist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willson Leist, 360 Watt St., has been accepted as a student at Elkhart University, Indiana.

She is a senior at Circleville High School and plans to major in medical technology at the Indiana University after graduation.

Washington Twp. Youth Reported 'Improved'

Mike Moorehead, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Moorehead of Washington Twp., is reported "improved" today at Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Young Moorehead was taken there following a fall from a haymow. He suffered a fractured skull.

Bethlehem today is a town of towers and domes, but has few hotels.

THE MARFIELD premises, located at 166 E. Main St., entails lots No. 221 and No. 222.

The property, owned by Mrs. Mary Marfield until her death several months ago, is part of the Marfield estate. The home, considered one of the older ones in Circleville, has been recognized for its historical significance.

According to local history buffs, some thought has been directed toward the possibility of fashioning the old homeplace into a museum. However, the financial burden of such a project has been termed too great to overcome.

In other business, the solons adopted a resolution accepting taxation amounts and rates as determined by the Pickaway County Budget Commission. The measure authorized the necessary tax levies and their certification to the county auditor.

Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe reported that four firms have picked up specifications concerning bids for a new aerial ladder pumper truck for his department. He also submitted an annual report on firefighting operations during 1964.

Passenger Train Derails Injuring Pair

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The two engine units and six cars of a Cincinnati-to-Chicago Pennsylvania Railroad mail and passenger train were derailed today at Collinsville, about 11 miles north of here, but only two persons were injured.

The injured were listed D. F. Sergeant, a fireman, and Wilford McConkey, a mail clerk. Both were brought here to Mercy Hospital. McConkey did not appear to be seriously hurt and Sergeant complained of hip and chest pains.

There were only two passenger cars on the train and one of them did not leave the rails.

The two engine units toppled over and three cars plunged off the right-of-way. Three other cars were derailed but remained on the right-of-way.

Approximately 500 feet of track was reported to have been torn up and the railroad office in Cincinnati said a bus would take the passengers to Logansport, Ind., for boarding of another train.

The Butler County sheriff's office said the engineer reported he saw the track appear to be "buckling" and that he applied the brakes but was unable to stop in time to avoid the derailment.

Vietnamese Seek Revenge But Can't Contact Reds

BINH GIA, South Viet Nam (AP) — More than 800 South Vietnamese troops moved out of embattled Binh Gia today into a new operation zone nearby, seeking revenge for the Viet Cong success of the past week.

For the second day no important contact developed. An enemy sniper with a shotgun wounded one paratrooper. The sniper was captured immediately.

Eighty helicopters transferred the troops under the watchful eye of Lt. Gen. John L. Throckmorton, deputy U.S. commander in Viet Nam. No enemy fire met the helicopters as they landed the troops.

Fifteen armored personnel carriers were moving toward the new helicopter landing zone, but it did not seem that the Viet Cong intended to fight during the day.

The Roman Catholic peasants in Binh Gia, 40 miles east of Saigon, were getting jittery about the exodus of government forces from the area immediately around the town. Only about 400 Vietnamese troops with 12 U.S. advisers remained in the town. Rumors circulated that the Viet Cong had up to 2,000 troops in the vicinity.

In Saigon, the government issued a communique denying rumors of impending negotiations with the Communists to end the war. Premier Tran Va Huong said spreading such rumors was punishable under a law outlawing "communism and neutralism."

Communist China hailed the Binh Gia battle as a "brilliant victory" for the Communist forces. It said it showed the Viet Cong no longer are guerrilla fighters but have grown into a "formidable liberation army."

However, this did not mean that the U.S.-backed South Vietnamese government would stop fighting, said an editorial in the official Peking People's Daily.

It continued: "On the contrary, the logic of the reactionaries is: the worse the failure, the more trouble it will create. They will never resign themselves to their own doom."

Traffic Control Problems Discussed in City Council

City Council last night kicked off its 1965 season with a brief and fast-moving session.

The regular discussion period included some sharp comments on traffic control, including restricted left turns and crosswalk safety.

John Jenkins, safety committee chairman, said he feels there is a need for a program to more thoroughly inform motorists on left turn restrictions and proper procedure at the city's two crosswalks on East and West Main St.

three drive-in bank facilities.

SAFETY Director Miller Fissell said double yellow lines have been painted in the vicinity of the drive-in facilities and that bank officials are urging their customers not to make left turns. He said signs also have been placed in noticeable locations.

Fissell added that it is not feasible to place concrete dividers in the middle of streets to prevent the turns. He said they constitute a safety hazard.

Jenkins countered that a more specific, informative program is needed to educate drivers and pedestrians alike. He suggested a project that could be conducted through the newspaper and other informational means.

Conditional Pardon Given Ohio Escapee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes issued a conditional pardon today to Walter H. Maston, 47-year-old truck driver who escaped from an Ohio prison in 1950.

Maston was serving a sentence for a bigamous marriage in Akron in 1948.

Upon his escape, he returned to his wife and their 7-year-old son in Wilson, Conn. Later they went to Rhode Island where Maston works for a trucking firm in providence.

Police arrested him on a tip and Maston fought extradition to Ohio.

After an investigation showing that he apparently had been living an exemplary life and now is the father of nine children, the Ohio governor issued the pardon.

He said extradition proceedings would be dropped if Maston met the conditions.

Those conditions provide that senger train were derailed today as though on parole.

Duck Hunters Fined

A pair of Columbus duck hunters, arrested by Pickaway County Game Protector Russell Tippet, for hunting before legal hours, waived court hearings and paid fines of $15 and costs.

They were Kenneth Radliff and Cletus Wesley.

Work as Therapy

Psychiatrists and psychologists long have known that one of the best forms of therapy for mentally disturbed persons is work — any kind of work that is useful. But so often the record of mental illness bars such persons from productive labor.

Thus it is good to learn of a company in Denver, Colo., that is using mental patients — 60 of them — almost exclusively in making the firm's product. The product involved is a chemical combination of calcium clay and pulverized brick that is combined in a formula to provide traction for automobiles and firm footing for pedestrians on ice, sleet or compacted snow.

Inventor of the product and head of the company making it is Ray M. Hensen. He says: "The patients are being paid for their work, which helps rehabilitate them. I have run into a million dollars worth of talent at that mental hospital and I hope to make a regular business of this by helping other patients who may have ideas for new products or services."

Not many businessmen would have looked to mental patients for their labor force. But there's special reason for Hensen to do so. He's a former mental-hospital patient himself. Having found his way back to reality through work, he's now helping others do the same.

'Habuns' Are Hard To Find

By JOY STILLEY
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Modern supermarkets carry over 6,000 different articles, but I can never seem to find the items on my shopping list on the shelves.

Take the time I was looking for "habuns," for instance. Not a habun in the whole place. I really made a search for them, too, because they were underlined three times on my list, with an exclamation point. All indications were that we had been out of these necessities for some time and were likely to remain so.

It was only after I got home that my daughter wailed "Dad you forget the hamburger buns again?"

Early in life my kids learned to take advantage of their mother's short memory and long grocery lists. They became adept at imitating my handwriting and sandwiching such choice selections as cookies and soda pop among the green beans and lettuce. Occasionally, I would wonder why I had listed the desired flavor of ice cream as "choclit."

I know exactly what I mean when I jot items down on the pad I keep hanging in the kitchen, but the words always seem to lose a few letters or transfer themselves into a foreign tongue on the way to market.

The notation "B and E" seems self-explanatory when I scribble it upon discovery that we are out of both bacon and eggs. But its significance escapes me when I ponder over my shorthand in the grocery store.

Several times I have come home with pots, only to find we have plenty of cooking pans, but nothing in the way of potatoes. And a scrawled "pcs" can mean anything from pickles to peaches to pancakes.

Somehow I usually manage to muddle my way through, even though I may purchase soup bones or bananas, when the "bns" on the list really stands for beans. But one time all my imagination and ingenuity couldn't cope with the notation at the top of the slip of paper. The series of loops and swirls was undoubtedly "mdvpi." I finally gave up in despair.

That night I brought it to the attention of my husband, who can sometimes read my writing when I can't. "That looks for all the world like 'mdvpi,'" I pointed out.

"It is," he agreed. "I wrote that on there just to give you something to puzzle about."

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Anti-recession measures studied President Johnson's proposals to the Congress. And businessmen now have the answers to the question bothering them most in the midst of today's unprecedented prosperity.

That is: What would the government do if a slowdown in the long economic upswing comes in a few more months — as many now predict — or if a recession itself might unexpectedly threaten?

The President's proposals both follow and add to the standard lines of what government is supposed to do to ward off or lessen a slump. The traditional moves are:

1. Tax cuts to pump more money into consumers' pockets, in the hope they will spend it fast.

2. Emergency government spending, which works slower but in time may furnish jobs and new orders for business.

To this he has added the newest theory of how the government should aid and guide the economy: continued deficit financing, right now when business clouds are few, to keep the economy growing.

The deficit in the next federal budget will come from more tax cuts, already scheduled or now promised for this year, and from more government spending for a long list of programs aimed at furthering the advent of the "Great Society."

The President, his advisers, and probably a majority of Congress count on this deficit spending to produce enough economic growth to make more jobs, higher incomes and thus, eventually, larger Treasury collections.

And they point with pride to 1964, when a tax cut while the Treasury was running a deficit is credited with helping boost the economy to record heights.

The President proposes cuts in the federal excise — sales — taxes, and perhaps still lower income tax rates if a slowdown threatens. Above all, though, he would like a heretofore reluctant Congress to arrange for quick — almost automatic — income tax cuts to fight a recession as soon as it appears.

He also wants, just in case, similar standby programs for public works to be started when new jobs are urgently needed.

Also aimed at putting off the day when an economic slowdown or a recession may appear is the President's suggestion that the federal $1.25 an hour minimum wage law be extended to two million more workers now uncovered. And he wants unemployment benefits boosted by higher payroll taxes covering a larger amount of wages.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AT SALEM COLLEGE, in Clarksburg, West Virginia, they're telling about a back-sliding professor who dropped a bottle of bourbon on the floor. While he was in search of a rag to mop up, three mice stole out of their corner and lapped up all the liquor in sight. In short order they were intoxicated mice, indeed, bristling with new-found assurance and daring. The first one pounded his chest and announced, "I'm off for Red China to put that fellow Mao Tse-tung in his place." The second sneered, "None of that bush-league stuff for me. I'm going straight to the Kremlin and tell 'em what I think of their tactics." The third mouse had different notions entirely. "I'll leave all those world affairs to you, my lads," he proclaimed. "Me, I'm going upstairs and lick the cat."

EVER HAPPEN TO YOU?

By Blake

THE CROWDER—
TAKING UP ALL THE LEG ROOM
UNDER THE BRIDGE TABLE!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What does a doctor learn by tapping on the chest and back? This important part of a physical examination is called "percussion."

A sharp tap on the chest wall produces a characteristic sound. The sound varies from a dull thud over the heart to a clear, resonant note over the air-filled lungs.

When the lungs are infected and pneumonia is present, a flat note is produced instead of the normal clear sound. Physicians become so adept at percussion that they can actually "feel" the sound as well as hear it. They may even get a fairly accurate idea of the size and shape of the heart by this valuable diagnostic technique.

A percussion examination contributes important information for determining the exact condition of a patient.

What does a physician hear when he listens to the chest? This procedure, called "auscultation," reveals the trained ear the sounds that signify heart or disease.

In normal health, the sound of breathing is clear and unobstructed. Patients with asthma may produce breathing sounds described as "pipes, squeaks, and groans."

Various forms of heart illness can be identified with remarkable accuracy by the sounds heard through the stethoscope. The sensitive, listening ears of the doctor can readily detect changes in the normal heart beat, and can even recognize slight variations in pitch and loudness.

Heart murmurs can be identified with such accuracy that the sounds can even give the doctor a good "picture" of the inner architecture of the heart. Auscultation, like percussion, gives the physician valuable information for making an accurate diagnosis. Both techniques are also used for investigating abdominal conditions.

Laboratory tests and other studies are often used to support or confirm the clinical evidence offered by these simple but vitally important aspects of a general physical examination.

What should be done when a child swallows a pin or some other small object?

In most instances small foreign bodies travel safely through the esophagus, the stomach, and the small and large intestines and are finally excreted through normal body processes.

But it is always a wise precaution to consult a doctor for direction and reassurance, especially if a sharp object was swallowed or if there are any signs of pain, or difficulty in swallowing or breathing.

Pieces of metal or glass can be seen by X-ray and followed through the body, to make sure that they are safely eliminated.

Children should be carefully observed for any unusual symptoms for a few days after swallowing a foreign body.

Oriental Fashion

By John Chamberlain

This column's Kremlinologists, who were accurate in predicting the 1963 crop failure in the Soviet Union and have since been right about other things ("Nothing can save Khrushchev," said one of them quite early in 1964), insist that Moscow's hopes for an accommodation with Red China are foundering on Mao Tse-tung's bargaining attitude of "I-chu-hua," or "What will you give?"

The Red Chinese bargaining begins in true Oriental fashion, with a display of ferocity. Talking with Japanese Communists, Mao Tse-tung calls the Russians "imperialists." He lists the territories the Romanov czars seized from the Chinese in the Nineteenth Century, from inner Asia to Vladivostok. And he throws in a dig about Russian imperialism in Rumania and Hungary.

Even while Mao is talking, some mysterious leaflets appear in Rumania itself, urging the Rumanian government to insist on a restoration of the old province of Bessarabia that is now part of Russia. Other leaflets appear in Hungary, taking issue with the propaganda that insists on the popularity of Kadar's government. Nobody dares accuse the Red Chinese of instigating the pamphleteering for fear it will disrupt negotiations between Moscow and Peking. The fiction is that the leaflets are being printed in Albania, a country that is too small to do anything about the accusation, if it is indeed an accusation rather than an excuse.

This is the "ta, ta," or "fight, fight, phase of Chinese bargaining. It is then followed by the "tan, tan," or "talk, talk," phase.

But what is there to talk about? Mao Tse-tung's price, so the Kremlinologists say, is to insist that Soviet Russia should live up to the brother-in-arms obligations of international Marxists. The Soviets, so Mao points out, have lands in Asia which they cannot adequately farm because of a shortage of manpower. China, on the other hand, has so many people that it cannot feed them. So why not put the surplus Chinese to work on the surplus Soviet acreage? And in return for Soviet freedom in eastern Europe why not give Red China a free hand throughout Asia meaning a cessation of Soviet aid to India?

If the words of the old song of the Marxist International "The international Soviet will be the human race" had any real meaning for proletarians today, the Russians would, of course, have to comply with Mao's request for land for hungry Oriental Communists and a quick pro quo territorial arrangement on the rights to extend the revolution.

But the Soviets, as Mao Tse-tung has wickedly pointed out, have ceased to be orthodox Marxists. They are not interested in feeding hungry Chinese proletarians at Russia's territorial expense.

Thus there will be no satisfactory answer from Moscow to Mao's "I-chu-hua," or "What will you give?"

Theoretically, a compromise might be worked out between the Russians and the Chinese Reds if Moscow would only lend some aid to Peking's efforts to industrialize China. But Russia itself has nothing much to give in this area. It has a surplus of oil, but the Chinese haven't the spare parts they need to keep machinery and an air force in shape to use imposing quantities of oil and gasoline. Since the Soviets themselves are suffering from the tacit sabotage of industrial slow-down and the agricultural dislocations imposed by a "why work?" peasantry, they can't produce the surplus that would be needed to bail out the Red Chinese economy.

All of which gives the nations of the West their opportunity of engaging in their own statecraft of "I-chu-hua," of "What will you give?" There are still sixty odd thousand Hungarians in Kazakhstan, waiting for amnesty and a return to their homeland. And awaiting freedom in Hungary itself there are those political prisoners who were jailed after the failure of the revolution of 1956 instead of being shot. These prisoners were under eighteen at the time of their incarceration. Their freedom might be bought for western wheat in an "I-chu-hua" deal before they grow too old and lose hope.

The Chinese and the Russians can't arrive at a bargaining exchange because neither group has anything to give to the other. But the West has plenty to give, so why can't it buy liberty for political prisoners in some quid pro quo deals?

Won't someone teach Lyndon Johnson, Dean Rusk and Averell Harriman to ask, "I-chu-hua?"

NEW YORK (AP) — Modern supermarkets carry over 6,000 different articles, but I can never seem to find the items on my shopping list on the shelves.

Take the time I was looking for "habuns," for instance. Not a habun in the whole place. I really made a search for them, too, because they were underlined three times on my list, with an exclamation point. All indications were that we had been out of these necessities for some time and were likely to remain so.

It was only after I got home that my daughter wailed "Did you forget the hamburger buns again?"

Early in life my kids learned to take advantage of their mother's short memory and long grocery lists. They became adept at imitating my handwriting and sandwiching such choice selections as cookies and soda pop among the green beans and lettuce. Occasionally, I would wonder why I had listed the desired flavor of ice cream as "choclit."

I know exactly what I mean when I jot items down on the pad I keep hanging in the kitchen, but the words always seem to lose a few letters or transfer themselves into a foreign tongue on the way to market.

The notation "B and E" seems self-explanatory when I scribble it upon discovery that we are out of both bacon and eggs. But its significance escapes me when I ponder over my shorthand in the grocery store.

Several times I have come home with pots, only to find we have plenty of cooking pans, but nothing in the way of potatoes. And a scrawled "pcs" can mean anything from pickles to peaches to pancakes.

Somehow I usually manage to muddle my way through, even though I may purchase soup bones or bananas, when the "bns" on the list really stands for beans. But one time all my imagination and ingenuity couldn't cope with the notation at the top of the slip of paper. The series of loops and swirls was undoubtedly "mdvpi." I finally gave up in despair.

That night I brought it to the attention of my husband, who can sometimes read my writing when I can't. "That looks for all the world like 'mdvpi,'" I pointed out.

"It is," he agreed. "I wrote that on there just to give you something to puzzle about."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Anti-recession measures studded President Johnson's proposals to the Congress. And businessmen now have the answers to the question bothering them most in the midst of today's unprecedented prosperity.

That is: What would the government do if a slowdown in the long economic upswing comes in a few more months — as many now predict — or if a recession itself might unexpectedly threaten?

The President's proposals both follow and add to the standard lines of what government is supposed to do to ward off or lessen a slump. The traditional moves are:

1. Tax cuts to pump more money into consumers' pockets, in the hope they will spend it fast.

2. Emergency government spending, which works slower but in time may furnish jobs and new orders for business.

To this he has added the newest theory of how the government should aid and guide the economy: continued deficit financing, right now when business clouds are few, to keep the economy growing.

The deficit in the next federal budget will come from more tax cuts, already scheduled or now promised for this year, and from more government spending for a long list of programs aimed at furthering the advent of the "Great Society."

The President, his advisers, and probably a majority of Congress count on this deficit spending to produce enough economic growth to make more jobs, higher incomes and thus, eventually, larger Treasury collections.

And they point with pride to 1964, when a tax cut while the Treasury was running a deficit is credited with helping boost the economy to record heights.

The President proposes cuts in the federal excise — sales — taxes, and perhaps still lower income tax rates if a slowdown threatens. Above all, though, he would like a heretofore reluctant Congress to arrange for quick — almost automatic — income tax cuts to fight a recession as soon as it appears.

He also wants, just in case, similar standby programs for public works to be started when new jobs are urgently needed.

Also aimed at putting off the day when an economic slowdown or a recession may appear is the President's suggestion that the federal $1.25 an hour minimum wage law be extended to two million more workers now uncovered. And he wants unemployment benefits boosted by higher payroll taxes covering a larger amount of wages.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AT SALEM COLLEGE, in Clarksburg, West Virginia, they're telling about a back-sliding professor who dropped a bottle of bourbon on the floor. While he was in search of a rag to mop up, three mice stole out of their corner and lapped up all the liquor in sight. In short order they were intoxicated mice, indeed, bristling with newfound assurance and daring. The first one pounded his chest and announced, "I'm off for Red China to put that fellow Mao Tse-tung in his place." The second sneered, "None of that bush-league stuff for me. I'm going straight to the Kremlin and tell 'em what I think of their tactics." The third mouse had different notions entirely. "I'll leave all those world affairs to you, my lads," he proclaimed. "Me, I'm going upstairs and lick the cat."

EVER HAPPEN TO YOU?

THE CROWDER — TAKING UP ALL THE LEG ROOM UNDER THE BRIDGE TABLE!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What does a doctor learn by tapping on the chest and back? This important part of a physical examination is called "percussion."

A sharp tap on the chest wall produces a characteristic sound. The sound varies from a dull thud over the heart to a clear, resonant note over the air-filled lungs.

When the lungs are infected and pneumonia is present, a flat note is produced instead of the normal clear sound.

Physicians become so adept at percussion that they can actually "feel" the sound as well as hear it. They may even get a fairly accurate idea of the size and shape of the heart by this valuable diagnostic technique.

A percussion examination contributes important information for determining the exact condition of a patient.

What does a physician hear when he listens to the chest?

This procedure, called "auscultation," reveals to the trained ear the sounds that signify health or disease.

In normal health, the sound of breathing is clear and unobstructed. Patients with asthma may produce breathing sounds described as "pipes, squeaks, and groans."

Various forms of heart illness can be identified with remarkable accuracy by the sounds heard through the stethoscope. The sensitive, listening ears of the doctor can readily detect changes in the normal heart beat, and can even recognize slight variations in pitch and loudness.

Heart murmurs can be identified with such accuracy that the sounds can even give the doctor a good "picture" of the inner architecture of the heart.

Auscultation, like percussion, gives the physician valuable information for making an accurate diagnosis. Both techniques are also used for investigating abdominal conditions.

Laboratory tests and other studies are often used to support or confirm the clinical evidence offered by these simple but vitally important aspects of a general physical examination.

What should be done when a child swallows a pin or some other small object?

In most instances small foreign bodies travel safely through the esophagus, the stomach, the small and large intestines and are finally excreted through normal body processes.

But it is always a wise precaution to consult a doctor for direction and reassurance, especially if a sharp object was swallowed, and if there are any signs of pain, or difficulty in swallowing or breathing.

Pieces of metal or glass can be seen by X-ray and followed through the body, to make sure that they are safely eliminated. Children should be carefully observed for any unusual symptoms for a few days after swallowing a foreign body.

Oriental Fashion

By John Chamberlain

This column's Kremlinologists, who were accurate in predicting the 1963 crop failure in the Soviet Union and have since been right about other things ("Nothing can save Khrushchev," said one of them quite early in 1964), insist that Moscow's hopes for an accommodation with Red China are foundering on Mao Tse-tung's bargaining attitude of "I-chu-hua," or "What will you give?"

The Red Chinese bargaining begins in true Oriental fashion, with a display of ferocity. Talking with Japanese Communists, Mao Tse-tung calls the Russians "imperialists." He lists the territories the Romanov czars seized from the Chinese in the Nineteenth Century, from inner Asia to Vladivostok. And he throws in a dig about Russian imperialism in Rumania and Hungary.

Even while Mao is talking, some mysterious leaflets appear in Rumania itself, urging the Rumanian government to insist on a restoration of the old province of Bessarabia that is now part of Russia. Other leaflets appear in Hungary, taking issue with the propaganda that insists on the popularity of Kadar's government. Nobody dares accuse the Red Chinese of instigating the pamphleteering for fear it will disrupt negotiations between Moscow and Peking. The fiction is that the leaflets are being printed in Albania, a country that is too small to do anything about the accusation, if it is indeed an accusation rather than an excuse.

This is the "ta, ta" or "fight, fight, phase of Chinese bargaining. It is then followed by the "tan, tan," or "talk, talk," phase.

But what is there to talk about? Mao Tse-tung's price, so the Kremlinologists say, is to insist that Soviet Russia should live up to the brother-in-arms obligations of international Marxists. The Soviets, so Mao points out, have lands in Asia which they cannot adequately farm because of a shortage of manpower. China, on the other hand, has so many people that it cannot feed them. So why not put the surplus Chinese to work on the surplus Soviet acreage? And in return for Soviet freedom in eastern Europe why not give Red China a free hand throughout Asia meaning a cessation of Soviet aid to India?

If the words of the old song of the Marxist International "The international Soviet will be the human race" had any real meaning for proletarians today, the Russians would, of course, have to comply with Mao's request for land for hungry Oriental Communists and a quid pro quo territorial arrangement on the rights to extend the revolution.

But the Soviets, as Mao Tse-tung has wickedly pointed out, have ceased to be orthodox Marxists. They are not interested in feeding hungry Chinese proletarians at Russia's territorial expense.

Thus there will be no satisfactory answer from Moscow to Mao's "I-chu-hua," or "What will you give?"

Theoretically, a compromise might be worked out between the Russians and the Chinese Reds if Moscow would only lend some aid to Peking's efforts to industrialize China. But Russia itself has nothing much to give in this area. It has a surplus of oil, but the Chinese haven't the spare parts they need to keep machinery and an air force in shape to use imposing quantities of oil and gasoline. Since the Soviets themselves are suffering from the tacit sabotage of industrial slow-down and the agricultural dislocations imposed by a "why work" peasantry, they can't produce the surplus that would be needed to bail out the Red Chinese economy.

All of which gives the nations of the West their opportunity of engaging in their own statecraft of "I-chu-hua, of "What will you give?" There are still sixty odd thousand Hungarians in Kazakhstan, waiting for amnesty and a return to their homeland. And awaiting freedom in Hungary itself there are those political prisoners who were jailed after the failure of the revolution of 1956 instead of being shot. These prisoners were under eighteen at the time of their incarceration. Their freedom might be bought for western wheat in an "I-chu-hua" deal before they grow too old and lose hope.

The Chinese and the Russians can't arrive at a bargaining exchange because neither group has anything to give to the other. But the West has plenty to give, so why can't it buy liberty for political prisoners in some quid pro quo deals?

Won't someone teach Lyndon Johnson, Dean Rusk and Averell Harriman to ask, "I-chu-hua"

Miami's Acquaint-a-Bus Makes Guides of Citizens

Dorothy Laughlin broadcasts the city's invitation to people visiting Miami's Northside Shopping Center.

By PEG ROBINSON
Correspondent

MIAMI, Fla. — People travel all over, gawking delightedly at the sights outside their own town. Ask them what's to be seen around their own bailiwick, though and nine out of ten don't know. It's only human nature. You can transport your daughter to and from a colorful job at the World's Fair, yet never go inside to have a looksee. In fact, a New Yorker I know waited until packed and ready to move to Florida, to visit the Big Town's best eyecatchers.

This city is doing something about this "little fox" of procrastination. When Uncle Louis and Aunt Charlotte come to town, hometowners will now know places to take them. And the householder himself can enjoy a new awareness of what a lively, fascinating part of the world it is he inhabits, even long after they've gone back home.

Just before Miami's gigantic influx of folks from "up North" the Acquaint-a-Bus began to roll. The Miami-Dade County Chamber of Commerce teamed up with the Metropolitan Publicity and Tourism Department and the Metro Transit Authority, together with half a dozen local attractions, to equip and "man" the bus over a month-long schedule of 16 stops at key spots throughout the sprawling county.

First it paid a call to the downtown business section — three days for an average of eight hours each; spent Sundays at a major beach, two days at the deluxe Lincoln Road Mall on Miami Beach, a day on the central Palm Spring Mile at Hialeah, and assorted stops at various shopping centers miles apart.

Dottie Laughlin was hostess for the venture throughout the month-long affair, pouring out information about the variety of things to see. Co-sponsors among local attractions included the Wax Museum, Monkey Jungle, Parrot Jungle, Seaquarium, Serpentinearium and Vizcaya.

This last is the former palatial home of the late Charles Deering of harvester-reaper wealth. Its formal gardens, cement barge and fabulous furnishings are highly popular attractions.

Mrs. Laughlin, as librarian and historian for the Miami Railroad Historical Society, operating the southernmost steam train in the nation, pitched such powerful persuasion for the cho-choo that this year she was asked to handle the bus hostessing job itself.

What brought on this new approach to local residents? Do the sponsors know what they're doing? They do. First they made a survey to find out how the area's historic, cultural and botanical attractions fared in competition with horse racing and jai-alai. A test flunked 88 per cent of those tested. The rock-bottom average was a measly 7. One guy scored 10.

Not one of those surveyed had watched the graceful sail-planes flying off the Miami Gliderport. A mere 24 per cent had visited the Gold Coast Railroad and Museum where the armor-plated presidential car, "Ferdinand Magellan," is on display. One of the five had seen the Wax Museum; less than half, the Monkey Jungle; 8 per cent, Miami Serpentinearium, and 22 per cent, the Orchid Jungle.

Startling, since residents are the principal source of information for visitors. If they can't inform them, give directions, people can leave disappointed or feeling there's nothing but water-and-sun-bathing to be found, however beguiling that "moon over Miami."

Since thousands of international visitors travel millions of miles every year to see what is to be seen on Miami's doorstep, October was given over to Miami-ans to see what it is they are all excited about. At many of the attractions these Miami-ans can now see them at a greatly reduced admission, as much as times as 50 per cent.

"What about paying admission every time we bring a out-of-towner to see the sights?" Mrs. Laughlin was asked.

"There's a resident admission pass to a good many of them," she explained. "Once you've paid admission, this entitles you to re-admission without charge when you return there with paying guests."

Honduran Wants Family Live in U.S.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Luis Guerra, on his way to die in Honduras, wants his family to continue having the advantages of living in the United States.

"I know I will never be back," he said. "But my wife and children will return. This is their home. Just as it was mine. I do not want them to live anywhere else in the world."

Guerra, 29, has incurable cancer. His last wish was a trip to El Progreso, Honduras, so he could be buried in the family plot next to his mother and father.

He left Monday night on an airliner with his wife Judy, 24, and their children, Luis A. Jr., 4, and Donald, 2.

Doctors here said he has about two months to live. A week before Christmas surgery revealed a malignant tumor in his abdomen. He wanted to be buried in Honduras, but didn't have the money to get there.

Contributions started coming in (about 2,000) after a newspaper story told of his plight. Employees of an airline (Eastern provided enough money to pay for the round trip fare for his family.

"Even though I am dying, there is not another country in the world where so much concern for me would have been shown," Guerra said.

Sunday Law Change Seen In Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sunday closing laws, long a controversial problem in Ohio, may be carried before the current legislature for more revisions.

This was indicated today when Rep. Don K. Cooper, R-Ashland, who began a third term when the 106th General Assembly opened Monday, said he again may sponsor a Sunday sales bill similar to one passed by the House in 1963, but which died in the Senate.

"I probably will make a couple of changes in the bill to overcome snags we ran into in the Senate the last time," Cooper said.

One of the changes he said he may make in the Sunday closing bill he will introduce will be in the provision allowing sale of processed meats on Sundays.

The measure as passed by the House in 1963 would have allowed sale of 12 classes of tangible personal property as being "necessary for the health, welfare and safety" of the purchaser.

It also exempted sales for charitable purposes, and sales by persons who observed Saturdays as their Sabbath from the Sunday sales ban.

Denny Ramsey has returned to Miami University after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ramsey, 356 E. Main St.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Frielley and daughter, Beth of Bryan, O.; former residents of Circleville, visited his mother, Mrs. Clara Fuller, 347 E. Main St., during the weekend.

Want to serve an old-fashioned main course that is as delicious today as it was years ago when it was first served? Offer your family and friends fried chicken fritters, crisp bacon. Serve maple syrup with the fritters if you like.

You can prepare a delicious winter-season marmalade with canned crushed pineapple and dried apricots.

Five Points Methodist WSCS Meets

Mrs. Francis Furniss was hostess when members of the Five Points WSCS met recently. Mrs. Herman Porter, president, opened the meeting.

Scripture was read from Luke 2:1-22 by Mrs. Arthur Winfough. Mrs. Gene Donohoe of Washington, C. H. was a guest. Mrs. Porter then read a Christmas message from the Rev. Louis C. Matthew.

Roll call was answered by members telling the most outstanding memory of Christmas during childhood. Mrs. Arthur Winfough, secretary, and Mrs. Francis Furniss, treasurer, reported.

Games and contests were enjoyed with Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Winfough and Mrs. Marion Riley receiving prizes for the most correct answers. A gift exchange was held.

Mrs. Porter opened the program, "Christmas Garlands", with a poem. She was assisted by Mrs. Edna McPherson and Mrs. Riley.

The meeting closed with prayer. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Furniss assisted by Mrs. Paul Dawson, Miss Laura Long and Mrs. Gene Donohoe.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Arthur Dick with Mrs. Richard Redman and Mrs. William Davis assisting.

New Officers Elected by Ladies Guild

An election of officers was conducted by the Rev. Richard Frasure when the Dresbach Ladies Guild met last week.

The session opened with group singing and devotions were given by Mrs. Forrest Valentine.

Mrs. Howard Dresbach was named president. Other officers are Mrs. Forrest Valentine, vice president; Mrs. Fred Pearce, secretary; Mrs. David Valentine, assistant secretary; Mrs. George Gill, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Pearce, reporter; Mrs. Forest Valentine, pianist.

Mrs. Charles Schlegler and Mrs. Gill presented readings. Mrs. Dresbach conducted a contest.

Refreshments were served and a gift exchange held. There were 11 members, two guests and three children present.

Two New Members Welcomed by Guild

Two new members were welcomed when Berger Hospital Guild No. 28 met yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Howard Smith, 999 Lynwood Ave.

Mrs. Orien Stout, chairman, conducted the meeting. New members are Mrs. Vaughn Hill, 128 Union St., and Mrs. Elsie Chester, 111 Collins Court.

It was announced that Miss Ellen Leist, superintendent of Berger Hospital, reported that the money donated by the guild was used to purchase instruments for the surgical room.

A card was signed to be sent to Mrs. Ethel Wolford who is ill.

House Plants Discussed At Monrovia GC Meet

Mrs. John Junk was guest speaker when the Monrovia Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Georgai Dick. There were 17 members present.

The speaker discussed house plants and how to choose and care for them. She brought a house plant which was auctioned by Mrs. Herman Porter and purchased by Mrs. Clara Wood.

Other guests were Miss Florence Alkire, Miss Linda Long and Mrs. Lewis Seymour. Mrs. Charles A. Fleming, president, presided. Mrs. Clyde Michel gave devotions, "Gathering Seed" followed by prayer. The group repeated The Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Clark McCafferty, secretary, reported and read a thank you note from members of the Five Points Christian Church for the swag placed on the church door at Christmas. Several holiday arrangements were placed in various churches by the club. Mrs. Fleming decorated the Hebron Church for the holiday season. Mrs. Lloyd Neff, treasurer, reported. The group voted to reimburse Mrs. Fleming for necessary material used in connection with the Junior Club at Westfall School.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Gossard and Mrs. Ned Long and daughter, Linda.

The next meeting will be held 8 p. m. Feb. 1 in the home of Mrs. Herman Porter. Mrs. Clyde Michel will be assisting hostess. Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner will be guest speaker and will demonstrate ceramic making.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Hesitate!

DEAR ABBY: My husband (whom I'll call Paul) was formerly married to a shrew who bore him a handsome son. She wanted the divorce (another man) so, rather than create a scandal, Paul let her divorce him on phony grounds (mental cruelty). She was given custody of the boy and moved to another state where Paul supports them in grand style. (I heard that the "other man" changed his mind and left her waiting at the church.) I also heard that she is still kicking herself for divorcing Paul.

Paul and I have been married for six years. No children yet, but we desperately want one. My problem: Every Christmas Paul's "ex" brings her son here to spend the holidays with my mother-in-law. Paul's family wines and dines her and the boy, and I must witness it all because my husband insists I be with him whenever he sees her. I can't stand the sight of her. Would it be better if I sent Paul to these family get-togethers alone?

STICKY SITUATION

DEAR STICKY: Yours is the penalty most "subsequent" wives must pay when their husbands have a family by a previous marriage. Don't send him alone. Go with him and try to be compassionate. If Paul's "ex" can stand the sight of you (whom she probably envies), you should be able to stand the sight of her, who deserves to be pitied. P.S. Have you ever considered adoption?

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor across the way hangs a lot of towels out on her line, and I must have counted 50 different towels represented already. Her husband travels. With a thief like this loose in the neighborhood, do you think it is safe for me to leave my laundry out overnight?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Your laundry is probably safe. People who carry off hotel towels rationalize their stealing (and it is stealing) with the mistaken assumption that the price of the room covers some anticipated thievery.

DEAR ABBY: How can a person choose a reliable doctor when he moves from town to town? Looking in the yellow pages for a doctor when you need one in an emergency scares me to death.

ON THE GO

DEAR ON: Before you leave your home community, ask your physician (and dentist, too!) to recommend a good person in his field in the community where you're headed. And before you leave that city, ask again.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LITTLE GIRL BLUE IN SHREVEPORT"

Don't leave your husband. YOU might learn the lesson—that he can live without you.

Ever add a little grated Parmesan cheese to an olive oil and vinegar dressing for tossed green salad? That addition of cheese is many a good salad cook's special secret!

Hosiery Care For Longer Nylon Wear

By ELEANOR ROSS

There is more mileage to be derived from every hosiery dollar if nylons are properly selected, worn, and washed.

For both comfort and service, nylons should be the correct size — with the foot part long enough not to bind the toes, but not so long as to cause wrinkles that are not only unsightly but irritating.

Nylons should fit smoothly on the legs but without strain when fastened at the reinforced welts. Garters should be perfectly smooth, and comfortable when adjusted.

It is economical to buy three or more identical pairs so that "odd" stockings can be matched after the mates wear out.

Gentle handling when donning or removing hose helps to prevent snagging or rough fingers, toes, shoes—or anything else.

Sit down, take time to roll each stocking down to the toe, then unroll it gently up the leg with thumbs inside to guide it on straight. Flexing knees before fastening garters prevents undue strain and stress on the hose during wear.

To remove stockings, reverse the process by re-rolling them carefully down, instead of just pulling them off.

Sudsing rule number one is to launder all new hose before wear. This removes the factory finish making them less shiny and more flexible so they will cling to legs smoothly.

Next rule is to launder hose promptly after each wearing. This helps to restore nylons to their original size and shape for fit.

There are several washing methods, all based on gentle handling in warm soap or detergent suds and rinses.

Squeeze the nylons through the suds and rinse water, handling gently, though. Then blot in a towel, shape, and dry over a clean towel or smooth rod.

It is a good idea to wear white fabric gloves while washing hose to guard against snags from rough cuticles or nails.

We like to shake our nylons in a closed plastic jar half-full of suds. This makes a good and efficient miniature washer.

Some women like to use a flexible foam container shaped like a top — loading automatic washer. This is placed in a basin of suds, then squeezed up and down to force the suds through the hose.

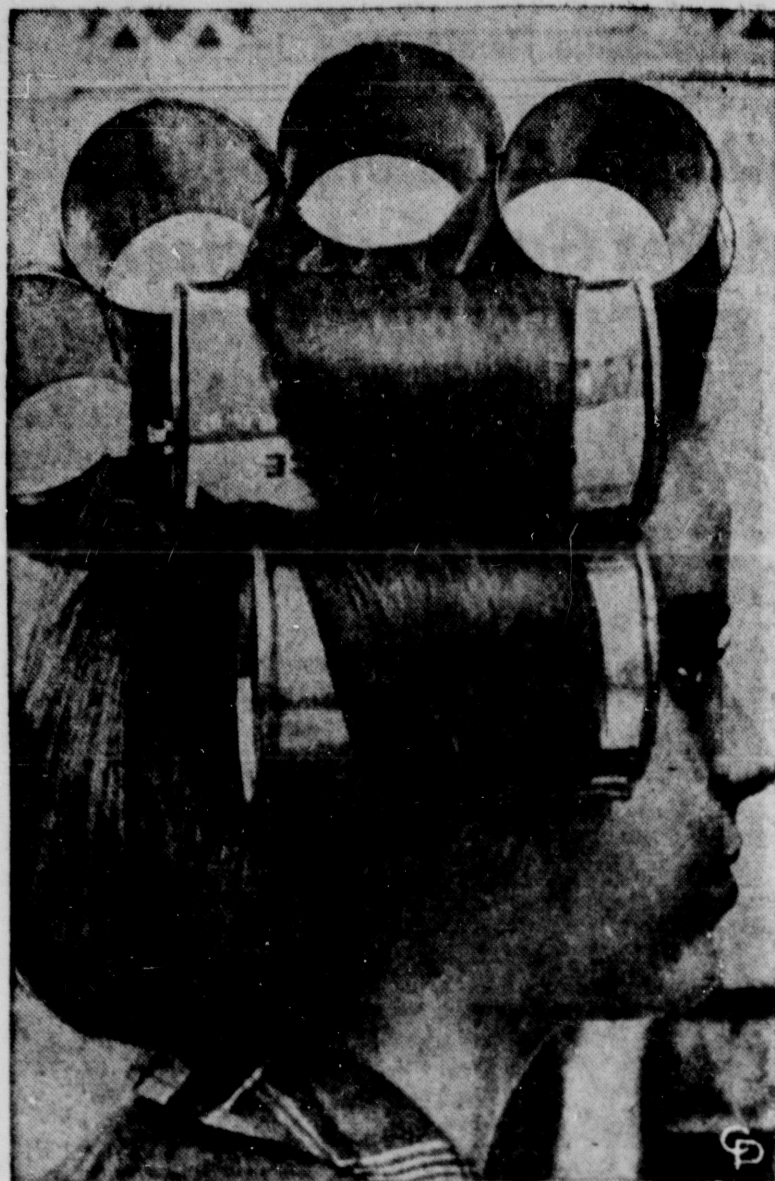

Rinsing is done the same way, using clean water.

Another method is to put the nylons in a small net drawstring bag for sudsing, then hold under running warm water for rinsing.

Nylons should be stored safely in a smooth plastic bag or fabric hosiery case to get the utmost wear, rather than just being rolled up and thrown into a bureau drawer.

And to prevent those pesky snags and runs, legs should be stubble-free, toenails should be filed smooth, and rough heels or potential calluses should be smoothed with a well-lathered pumice stone.

White raisins along with grated orange and lemon rind makes a fine addition to apple pie.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fraunfelder and Lynn, Vicki and Gregg, Lorna Poling and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Speakman and family enjoyed a carry-in dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Speakman of near Amanda in honor of Mr. Speakman's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Maxson spent several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Burton at Salem and attended a Hereford banquet and dance on New Year's Eve.

Tania Marlon and Krystal Luckhart spent the weekend with their grandparents here. Diane stayed over New Year's Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fraunfelder and family and Lorna Poling were New Year's Day dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fraunfelder. Lorna Poling and Steve Fouch spent the weekend at the Francis Fraunfelder home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Luckhart and Diane, Tania Marlon and Krystal, Mrs. Nellie Mowery, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones and Kathy and Casey, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Jones and Connie and Jeff viewed the Tournament of Roses parade and all the football games on colored TV at the home of Russell Jones and family.

Mrs. Esther Collins and Bobby and Darlene spent the holidays with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis C. Valentine in South Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jones and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Luckhart were a group of guests at a dinner Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw in Lancaster.

Dry curries take a "saucy" accompaniment. Curried fried chicken, for example, tastes delightful with a relish of diced, fresh orange, minced red onion and green pepper folded into sour cream.

Equal quantities of lemon juice and olive oil plus crushed garlic make an excellent marinade for lobster tails that are to be broiled; try this combination, too, for shrimp that are to be grilled.

Senators Give Viet Nam Views

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., suggested extension of the war into Communist North Viet Nam and held out at the same time hope for a negotiated settlement.

Tower said present policies are losing the war, and he declared it will take new initiatives to reverse the course of the guerrilla struggle.

That, he said, means action to choke off Communist supply support from the north.

All told, 81 of the 100 senators responded to the survey.

In general terms, 30 of them suggested that the United States stick to its present course, at least for the present. Many of them called at the same time for steps to improve the results, stressing government reforms and stability in South Viet Nam.

Three others talked of strengthening Democratic government in the Southeast Asian nation, but took no stand on U.S. military or diplomatic measures.

Ten senators called for a negotiated settlement now, some joined Church in a call for international supervision.

Three suggested the United States and South Viet Nam step up the struggle, moving it north into Communist territory.

Three spoke out for U.S. withdrawal.

Eight indicated they had no suggestions, and 24 refused to comment at all.

Those who did offer suggestions proposed them in varying terms which defied precise man-by-man cataloging. Many senators who responded to the survey insisted that their names not be used.

Some Republicans who declined to be quoted by name renewed an allegation voiced by Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, during his campaign — that President Johnson has not told Congress or the nation what is going on in South Viet Nam and there should be a detailed accounting from the White House.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., insisted that Johnson and his advisers have "the best information available to anyone."

"I have confidence in their decisions," Sparkman said. "I think we should back them up."

The Senate itself is investigating the situation, through its Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. Some legislators said they would await those inquiries before deciding what course they favor.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas and Richard B. Russell of Georgia, the committee chairmen, declined comment on the situation now.

Russell already has said "we made a terrible mistake getting involved in Viet Nam." But he added he does not know "just how we can get out now."

Some senators reflected the frustration of many Americans at the continuing struggle in Viet Nam. "I don't know how you get off a tiger's back," said a senator who asked that he not be identified.

Another said he shares with many citizens "the feeling that maybe we ought to say the hell with it and pull out," but realizes that would probably mean a Communist takeover.

Sen. Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo., put the dilemma in more formal terms:

"I do not know precisely what changes should be brought about in American policy in Viet Nam, but I do know that we can neither withdraw nor cling to the precarious status quo which is causing us to lose the war in which so many Americans already have died."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., disagreed.

"There is no stable government," he said, "only chaos and disorder."

"Therefore, I am prone to withdraw without any ifs or ands," Ellender declared.

"I'd favor a settlement based on neutralization or to pull out," said Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va.

"The situation in Viet Nam is impossible unless a stable government can be established," Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said. "I don't know how long we can wait on this."

"If the South Vietnamese demonstrate an ability to govern themselves, of course we should continue to help them," he said.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, looked for evidence of new South Vietnamese determination. "U.S. combat units should be sent in only if the South Vietnamese make a dramatic show or a greater will to win," she said.

If they lack that will, she said, it is questionable whether the United States should stay there at all.

Republican Sens. Tower, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Wallace F. Bennett of Utah joined in calling for action to destroy Communist supply lines by moving against bases in North Viet Nam.

Sparkman and Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, agreed that efforts to cut off Communist supplies might require aerial action over North Viet Nam.

"This might necessitate the bombing of supply bases inside North Viet Nam," Sparkman said.

Aiken counseled against commitment of U.S. combat troops or expansion of the war — unless the United States is prepared for all-out war including the use of nuclear weapons.

He saw no way to negotiate a settlement. "We can't," Aiken said. "It's not our war."

Sparkman was wary of neutralization, saying it "would almost certainly lead to a Communist takeover eventually."

But Church, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.; Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., and Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, saw negotiations as the only answer — with international control their goal.

"I suggest," Johnston said, "the United Nations handle it, set up a buffer zone between North and South Viet Nam and police it."

"Other nations should help pay for the fight to defend South Viet Nam," he said.

'Awful' Books Are Slated For People Who Foul Up

LONDON (AP) — The man who published the Awful Spellers Dictionary says his sales have been so good that he's going to publish a series of Awful Books.

"We have done phenomenally well with the dictionary for Awful Spellers," said Peter Wolfe. "It's now well on its way to 100,000 copies."

"All this has made us realize there is one incredible gap in publishing. Everyone seems to assume that people are either beginners, competent, or advanced in a subject."

"Since I'm so bad at so many things myself this is something very dear to my heart. So, I've commissioned a series of Awful Books designed specially for people who are bad at doing things."

The first three, to be published in March, will be called: The Awful Cook's Book, The Awful Dressmaker's Book, The Awful Handyman's Book.

"All these tell you what not to do and what, if anything, you can do if you've already made an awful mess of something," said Wolfe. "The title and the concept may be funny, but the books themselves are deadly serious and we hope will be of use in an emergency when, for instance, the sponge cake goes flat, the pancakes have been ruined, or perhaps you have split the beautiful plank you've bought."

The Awful Spellers Dictionary was designed for those who spell so badly they can't find the words in an ordinary dictionary.

The words are arranged phonetically. You look up a word the way it sounds.

If you want to spell phenomenal, you look up fenominal.

All-Weather Landing System Demonstrated

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An all-weather landing system that automatically guides airplanes to a landing was displayed for Air Force officials and a press gathering Tuesday at nearby Wright - Patterson Air Force Base. The system is manufactured by Lear Siegler, Inc., of Santa Monica, Calif.

The first Christmas party in the White House, Mrs. John Adams wrote, "was a frost."

Twenty cords of wood were burned in 13 fireplaces in a futile effort to dry out the damp walls. The shivering guests stayed only briefly.

Ohio Deadline In Migrants Is Advanced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Deadline for placing interstate orders for some 20,000 migratory workers expected to be needed on Ohio farms during the 1965 growing and harvest seasons has been moved up from March 15 to Feb. 1, Gov. James A. Rhodes was informed today.

Willard P. Dudley, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, told the governor that letters have been sent to all growers using migrant labor notifying them of the new deadline.

Dudley said it is one of the steps being taken to meet a threatened farm labor shortage, forecast because of the expiration of Public Law 78 under which 185,000 to 200,000 foreign workers, mostly Mexicans, entered the U.S. in 1964.

Ohio farms do not use Mexican braceros but do place clearance orders with Farm Labor Services of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation for domestic migratory workers from Texas, Florida, and other states within U.S. borders. Ohio farmers are expected to face great competition from other states which once had used Mexican workers.

Senators Give Viet Nam Views

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., suggested extension of the war into Communist North Viet Nam and held out at the same time hope for a negotiated settlement.

Tower said present policies are losing the war, and he declared it will take new initiatives to reverse the course of the guerrilla struggle.

That, he said, means action to choke off Communist supply support from the north.

All told, 81 of the 100 senators responded to the survey.

In general terms, 30 of them suggested that the United States stick to its present course, at least for the present. Many of them called at the same time for steps to improve the results, stressing government reforms and stability in South Viet Nam.

Three others talked of strengthening Democratic government in the Southeast Asian nation, but took no stand on U.S. military or diplomatic measures.

Ten senators called for a negotiated settlement now, some joined Church in a call for international supervision.

Three suggested the United States and South Viet Nam step up the struggle, moving it north into Communist territory.

Three spoke out for U.S. withdrawal.

Eight indicated they had no suggestions, and 24 refused to comment at all.

Those who did offer suggestions proposed them in varying terms which defied precise man-by-man cataloging. Many senators who responded to the survey insisted that their names not be used.

Some Republicans who declined to be quoted by name renewed an allegation voiced by Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, during his campaign — that President Johnson has not told Congress or the nation what is going on in South Viet Nam and there should be a detailed accounting from the White House.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., insisted that Johnson and his advisers have "the best information available to anyone."

"I have confidence in their decisions," Sparkman said. "I think we should back them up."

The Senate itself is investigating the situation, through its Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. Some legislators said they would await those inquiries before deciding what course they favor.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas and Richard B. Russell of Georgia, the committee chairmen, declined comment on the situation now.

Russell already has said "we made a terrible mistake getting involved in Viet Nam." But he added he does not know "just how we can get out now."

Some senators reflected the frustration of many Americans at the continuing struggle in Viet Nam. "I don't know how you get off a tiger's back," said a senator who asked that he not be identified.

Another said he shares with many citizens "the feeling that maybe we ought to say the hell with it and pull out," but realizes that would probably mean a Communist takeover.

Sen. Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo., put the dilemma in more formal terms:

"I do not know precisely what changes should be brought about in American policy in Viet Nam, but I do know that we can neither withdraw nor cling to the precarious status quo which is causing us to lose the war in which so many Americans already have died."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., disagreed.

"There is no stable government," he said, "only chaos and disorder."

"Therefore, I am prone to withdraw without any ifs or ands," Ellender declared.

"I'd favor a settlement based on neutralization or to pull out," said Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va.

"The situation in Viet Nam is impossible unless a stable government can be established," Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said. "I don't know how long we can wait on this."

"If the South Vietnamese demonstrate an ability to govern themselves, of course we should continue to help them," he said.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, looked for evidence of new South Vietnamese determination. "U.S. combat units should be sent in only if the South Vietnamese make a dramatic show or a greater will to win," she said.

If they lack that will, she said, it is questionable whether the United States should stay there at all.

Republican Sens. Tower, Strom Thurmond of South Caro-

Haunted by Similarities

EDITOR'S NOTE — The names Lincoln and Kennedy each contain seven letters. There are many other similarities concerning the two presidents who guided the nation a century apart. A local reader has compiled some of the coincidences that haunt the memory of historians who study the lives of two great men that seem to be one.

He was in the fruitful middle years of his life when the end came. His heart's desire was to be known as the President who brought peace, at home as

NFO Slates
Seminar on Bargaining

Miles Kahler, president of the Pickaway County National Farmers Organization has announced details for an educational seminar on "Necessary Steps To Be Taken For Successful Bargaining in Agriculture", to be held Jan. 12 at the 4-H and Grange Building at the Fairgrounds.

The NFO is offering this seminar as a public service to all farmers and interested persons, Kahler said.

Subjects to be covered include past history in marketing, present conditions in agriculture, strong and weak points in the present marketing structure, new economic factors in marketing, reasons for failure of past proposed solutions and requirements for a successful modern day marketing structure.

The seminar subjects are based on information from agricultural colleges and universities, the United States Department of Agriculture and NFO research committees.

There will be a question and answer period following presentation of the information.

"This is the most important meeting farmers can attend," the county president said, "because the seminar is a broad study on methods which must be used in order for farmers to receive fair prices at the market place."

The seminar will be used to establish a broad educational base for a better understanding among farmers as to what it takes to achieve successful bargaining in agriculture.

Zanesville Gets Grant
To Develop New Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration has announced a $3,500 grant to help the city of Zanesville finance the purchase of 54.8 acres for a park. Total estimated cost of the land is $17,500.

The Community Facilities Administration also announced a $795,000 loan to the Mt. Sinai Hospital in Cleveland for construction of a six-story apartment building to house 60 in-terns and residents.

well as abroad. He did not live to achieve it!

He was concerned with the issue of Civil Rights. He liked the South, but the South did not like him. Between the two stood the American Negro. The 16th, 35th President tried to force the South to liberalize its policies toward the Negro, but the South was neither ready nor willing to do it.

A delightful facet of his personality was a keenly developed sense of humor which he often displayed spontaneously, both in informal chats and in public speeches. He enjoyed practical jokes, too. This unique wit undoubtedly enabled him to live through many tense hours with greater ease.

He had four children — two were dead. In the company of little ones, he enjoyed shedding the weight and austerity of his high office.

His First Lady, of Southern aristocracy, was fashionable, but restive in the White House. She enjoyed poetry, painting, music, and the theater — but not state dinners and the company of politicians. She fought to maintain a private family life and sometimes lost. She lost a child through death while residing in the White House.

He was a spare eater who preferred plain food.

He was an omnivorous reader who devoured newspapers and history books by the dozen. He enjoyed reading the Bible and could quote both the Old and New Testaments.

His program was often thwarted by his own party. Whatever support he had in the Congress came from a coalition of liberal groups. In public he displayed enormous patience and serenity, although in private he was often irritated by opposition to his policies in the American Press.

When Lincoln became President in 1861, one of the persons most worried about his safety was John Kennedy, superintendent of the New York City Police. Mr. Kennedy used to warn government agents to be extra watchful when President Lincoln traveled, and advised him not to go to the theater.

When John F. Kennedy became President in 1961, one of the persons most worried about his safety was Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, his personal secretary. Mrs. Lincoln notified Secret Service agents whenever President Kennedy left his office, and advised him not to go to Dallas.

Lincoln thought of assassination, but always fatalistically —

"I know no one could do it and escape alive," he said, "but if it is to be done, it is impossible to prevent it."

Kennedy thought of assassination — once, walking with Secret Service agents he joked, "If anyone tries to get me, they're going to have to get you fellows first."

When death came, it came on Friday. The assassin was a misguided man with a gun. A bullet smashed through the President's head, from behind, as he sat beside his wife.

The names John Wilkes Booth and Lee Harvey Oswald each contain 15 letters. Booth was born in 1839 and Oswald was born in 1939. Both were Southerners, favoring unpopular ideas; they were not supported by any organization; and both were murdered before they could be brought to trial.

Booth shot Lincoln in Ford's Theater, escaped temporarily and hid in a warehouse. Oswald shot Kennedy (riding in a Lincoln made by the Ford Company) from a warehouse, escaped temporarily and hid in a theater.

He was succeeded by Vice President Johnson. The names Andrew Johnson and Lyndon Johnson each contain 13 letters. Andrew Johnson was born in 1808 and Lyndon Johnson was born in 1908. Both Johnsons were Southerners who had served in the Senate before becoming vice president.

This compilation was drawn from these writings: "Facts of Presidents' Assassinations Similar" by Paul Harvey; "The Deadly Parallel" by Jim Bishop; "The Kennedy Wit" by Bill Adler; "Does History Repeat Itself?" and "Stranger than Fiction", anonymous.

District Meet

Circleville's Hall-Adkins American Legion Post will host the Seventh District Winter Conference on Jan. 10.

The business session will get under way at 10:30 a.m. Registration has been set for 10 a.m.

Greetings to conference attendees will be extended by legionnaire William A. Mamer, Pickaway County Common Pleas Court judge.

The business session will halt at noon for a lunch period. The meal will be served by the local Legion Auxiliary.

MEMBERS of the Past Commanders Club will conduct their meeting and breakfast at 8:00 a.m. prior to registration. All legionnaires and auxiliary members are urged to attend.

A pre-conference highlight will be a dance scheduled at the Post Home on Jan. 9. All post and auxiliary members are invited.

Dancing will last from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Music will be by "The Moonlighters," a five-piece combo that features a New Orleans style.

Third Trial Ordered In Canton Burglary

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A third trial was ordered today for two men who have been convicted twice in previous trials on charges of breaking and entering the office of Dr. Samuel Abood.

The two, Donald Sahadi and George Rotar, first were convicted Dec. 31, 1962, but Fifth District Court of Appeals ordered a new trial, declaring that Common Pleas Court Judge John Rossetti went outside the evidence in sentencing the pair to life when the state made no recommendation for such a sentence.

AN APPLE A DAY

Q. Is there any truth in the old adage, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away?"

A. The merits of "an apple a day" have not been subjected to the scientific scrutiny which such an assertion may deserve, but in preventive dentistry, at least, the apple claim has long been taken seriously. One study showed a considerable improvement in gum conditions and a reduction in caries when apple slices were regularly eaten after meals. Such benefits are derived from the mechanical cleansing of the teeth by the apple, and also from the increased flow of saliva which washes away food debris. A good toothbrush should do the same thing, however.

EPILEPSY AND BEHAVIOR

Q. Does epilepsy cause violent behavior? Wasn't this brought out during the recent widely publicized trial in Texas?

A. Five doctors who testified for the state in that trial found no evidence that the accused had epilepsy. The physicians have since publicly stated that epileptic seizures are never the cause of complicated and planned criminal acts or violence. Persons who suffer from epilepsy are no less law-abiding than non-epileptics.

Remember — the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

In terms of health benefits, prescribed medicine is the biggest bargain for the money.

Names of Lincoln Kennedy Haunted by Similarities

EDITOR'S NOTE — The names Lincoln and Kennedy each contain seven letters. There are many other similarities concerning the two presidents who guided the nation a century apart. A local reader has compiled some of the coincidences that haunt the memory of historians who study the lives of two great men that seem to be one.

He was in the fruitful middle years of his life when the end came. His heart's desire was to be known as the President who brought peace, at home as

NFO Slates Seminar on Bargaining

Miles Kahler, president of the Pickaway County National Farmers Organization has announced details for an educational seminar on "Necessary Steps To Be Taken For Successful Bargaining in Agriculture", to be held Jan. 12 at the 4-H and Grange Building at the Fairgrounds.

The NFO is offering this seminar as a public service to all farmers and interested persons, Kahler said.

Subjects to be covered include past history in marketing, present conditions in agriculture, strong and weak points in the present marketing structure, new economic factors in marketing, reasons for failure of past proposed solutions and requirements for a successful modern day marketing structure.

The seminar subjects are based on information from agricultural colleges and universities, the United States Department of Agriculture and NFO research committees.

There will be a question and answer period following presentation of the information. "This is the most important meeting farmers can attend," the county president said, "because the seminar is a broad study on methods which must be used in order for farmers to receive fair prices at the market place."

The seminar will be used to establish a broad educational base for a better understanding among farmers as to what it takes to achieve successful bargaining in agriculture.

Zanesville Gets Grant To Develop New Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration has announced a $3,500 grant to help the city of Zanesville finance the purchase of 54.8 acres for a park. Total estimated cost of the land is $17,500.

The Community Facilities Administration also announced a $795,000 loan to the Mt. Sinai Hospital in Cleveland for construction of a six-story apartment building to house 60 in-terns and residents.

well as abroad. He did not live to achieve it!

He was concerned with the issue of Civil Rights. He liked the South, but the South did not like him. Between the two stood the American Negro. The 16th, 35th President tried to force the South to liberalize its policies toward the Negro, but the South was neither ready nor willing to do it.

A delightful facet of his personality was a keenly developed sense of humor which he often displayed spontaneously, both in informal chats and in public speeches. He enjoyed practical jokes, too. This unique wit undoubtedly enabled him to live through many tense hours with greater ease.

He had four children — two were dead. In the company of little ones, he enjoyed shedding the weight and austerity of his high office.

His First Lady, of Southern aristocracy, was fashionable, but restive in the White House. She enjoyed poetry, painting, music, and the theater — but not state dinners and the company of politicians. She fought to maintain a private family life and sometimes lost. She lost a child through death while residing in the White House.

He was a spare eater who preferred plain food.

He was an omnivorous reader who devoured newspapers and history books by the dozen. He enjoyed reading the Bible and could quote both the Old and New Testaments.

His program was often thwarted by his own party. Whatever support he had in the Congress came from a coalition of liberal groups. In public he displayed enormous patience and serenity, although in private he was often irritated by opposition to his policies in the American Press.

When Lincoln became President in 1861, one of the persons most worried about his safety was John Kennedy, superintendent of the New York City Police. Mr. Kennedy used to warn government agents to be extra watchful when President Lincoln traveled, and advised him not to go to the theater.

When John F. Kennedy became President in 1961, one of the persons most worried about his safety was Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, his personal secretary. Mrs. Lincoln notified Secret Service agents whenever President Kennedy left his office, and advised him not to go to Dallas.

Lincoln thought of assassination, but always fatalistically —

"I know no one could do it and escape alive," he said, "but if it is to be done, it is impossible to prevent it."

Kennedy thought of assassination — once, walking with Secret Service agents he joked, "If anyone tries to get me, they're going to have to get you fellows first."

When death came, it came on Friday. The assassin was a misguided man with a gun. A bullet smashed through the President's head, from behind, as he sat beside his wife.

The names John Wilkes Booth and Lee Harvey Oswald each contain 15 letters. Booth was born in 1839 and Oswald was born in 1939. Both were Southerners, favoring unpopular ideas; they were not supported by any organization; and both were murdered before they could be brought to trial.

Booth shot Lincoln in Ford's Theater, escaped temporarily and hid in a warehouse. Oswald shot Kennedy (riding in a Lincoln made by the Ford Company) from a warehouse, escaped temporarily and hid in a theater.

He was succeeded by Vice President Johnson. The names Andrew Johnson and Lyndon Johnson each contain 13 letters. Andrew Johnson was born in 1808 and Lyndon Johnson was born in 1908. Both Johnsons were Southerners who had served in the Senate before becoming vice president.

This compilation was drawn from these writings: "Facts of Presidents' Assassinations Similar" by Paul Harvey; "The Deadly Parallel" by Jim Bishop; "The Kennedy Wit" by Bill Adler; "Does History Repeat Itself?" and "Stranger than Fiction", anonymous.

Hall-Adkins Will Host District Meet

Circleville's Hall-Adkins American Legion Post will host the Seventh District Winter Conference on Jan. 10.

The business session will get under way at 10:30 a.m. Registration has been set for 10 a.m.

Greetings to conference attendees will be extended by legionnaire William Ammer, Pickaway County Common Pleas Court judge.

The business session will halt at noon for a lunch period. The meal will be served by the local Legion Auxiliary.

MEMBERS of the Past Commanders Club will conduct their meeting and breakfast at 8:00 a.m. prior to registration. All legionnaires and auxiliary members are urged to attend.

A pre-conference highlight will be a dance scheduled at the Post Home on Jan. 9. All post and auxiliary members are invited.

Dancing will last from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Music will be by "The Moonlighters," a five-piece combo that features a New Orleans style.

Third Trial Ordered In Canton Burglary

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A third trial was ordered today for two men who have been convicted twice in previous trials on charges of breaking and entering the office of Dr. Samuel Aboud.

The two, Donald Sahadi and George Rotar, first were convicted Dec. 31, 1962, but Fifth District Court of Appeals ordered a new trial, declaring that Common Pleas Court Judge John Rossetti went outside the evidence in sentencing the pair to life when the state made no recommendation for such a sentence.

AN APPLE A DAY

Q. Is there any truth in the old adage, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away?"

A. The merits of "an apple a day" have not been subjected to the scientific scrutiny which such an assertion may deserve, but in preventive dentistry, at least, the apple claim has long been taken seriously. One study showed a considerable improvement in gum conditions and a reduction in caries when apple slices were regularly eaten after meals. Such benefits are derived from the mechanical cleansing of the teeth by the apple, and also from the increased flow of saliva which washes away food debris. A good toothbrush should do the same thing, however.

EPILEPSY AND BEHAVIOR

Q. Does epilepsy cause violent behavior? Wasn't this brought out during the recent widely publicized trial in Texas?

A. Five doctors who testified for the state in that trial found no evidence that the accused had epilepsy. The physicians have since publicly stated that epileptic seizures are never the cause of complicated and planned criminal acts or violence. Persons who suffer from epilepsy are no less law-abiding than non-epileptics.

Remember — the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

In terms of health benefits, prescribed medicine is the biggest bargain for the money.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday Jan. 6, the sixth day of 1965. There are 359 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1838, Samuel Morse strung about a mile of wire around a factory room in Morristown, N.J., closed an electrical circuit and tapped out a message to his partner, Alfred Vaill. It was quickly received and understood by Vaill and Morse knew his telegraph was a success.
On this date:
In 1759, George and Martha Washington were married.
In 1872, Col. James Fiske Jr. called the "King of Wall Street," was shot by Edward Stokes. Fiske died the next day.
In 1912, New Mexico, the 47th state, was admitted to the Union.
In 1919, former President Theodore Roosevelt died.
In 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt started his four freedoms principles.
Ten years ago — The luxury liner Queen of Bermuda saved 10 persons aboard a sinking Newfoundland fishing boat 200 miles northeast of Bermuda.
Five years ago — A National Airlines plane disintegrated over Bolivia, N.C., all 34 aboard were killed.
One year ago — Pope Paul VI returned to Rome from his visit to the Holy Land.

U.S. Scene Producing Some Unique Reports

EDITOR'S NOTE — A one-landlord social service. An economic paradox in Kansas. An antinuity drive in California. These are in an intriguing miscellany of reports from varied sections of the U.S. scene.
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The generals leading a bureaucratic army into the war against poverty might do well to keep an eye on a skirmish being fought by a Baltimore landlord.
The landlord, Howard Offit, has set up his own social welfare agency for the 125 families which occupy houses he owns.
Three months ago he hired a social worker, Jane Cullen Mathieu, to help him "prove to some people that civic renewal could be done on a private basis."
Since then, Miss Mathieu, 30, has set up a sort of neighborhood settlement house. She established two steering committees to coordinate neighborhood activities. She began tutorial service, published a six-page monthly newsletter for tenants, started a savings club — pooling tenants' money for investments — and home economics workshops.
The program has had the approval so far of everyone, from the professionals in the Welfare Department to the tenants.
Offit says: "The tenants will be happier, there will be less turnover. It's just good business."
TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Kansas is losing some of the gold in its wheat to the industrial East and needs help from Washington.
A committee issued a chilling report to Gov. John Anderson recently on the erosion of the million industry in the country's No. 1 wheat-producing state — mills closed at Kingman and Winfield; two more scheduled to close at Salina; a possible shutdown at Wellington.
The reason: federally regulated freight rates are lower for wheat than they are for flour. As a result, major buyers are purchasing wheat for processing in the East. Kansas mills can't compete. The state is worried that unless rates are equalized it may lose its whole milling industry.
It would mean a loss of 2,500 jobs with an annual payroll of $15 million.
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — At the University of Utah's Delta Delta Delta sorority house, the postman didn't ring twice.
He didn't ring at all. He was a member.

Arthur M. Aamodt, campus mail carrier the past 15 years, had another distinction — he's an honorary doctor of letters. The university administration conferred the title on him in 1958.
"Dr." Aamodt — as he's known around the university — explained how he joined the sorority:
"I'd been on campus for several years and I thought I should get into some social life. Part of my route was the Pan-Hellenic office in the Student Union. I got an application and filled it out and the girls processed it with other applications.
"About a week later I got a call from the sorority inviting me to the house. They made me a guest of honor at a dinner and gave me a jewel box for cuff links with the chapter crest on it."
"Dr." Aamodt retired at the end of December. The university, as a farewell gift, gave him a new title: "Honorary Doctor of Letters Emeritus."
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The City Council is readying a campaign to protect diners from nudity.
Few diners have complained. But some of their wives have.
There have also been complaints from homeowners living near eating establishments which advertise "lunchtime strip show" along with the businessmen's special.
The council already has started its antinuity machinery into action — assigning the problem, appropriately enough, to its Fire, Police and Civil Defense Committee.
The committee's plan was due for action by the council itself this week. It would require establishments with an entertainment license to get a special permit for a strip-tease act from the City Police Commission.
Right now, any business with an entertainment license can start a strip act.

Laurelville News

By Mrs. Ray Poling

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Stone of Leesburg were Sunday dinner guests of her sister, Mrs. Nell Swackhamer.

Mr. Harold Alter of Gibsonville was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Norton.

Joint Prayer Rites Are Scheduled For Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — A joint Protestant-Roman Catholic prayer service will be held here inauguration day.

The unique service is scheduled for the morning of Jan. 20 at St. John's Episcopal Church, across the street from the White House.

The sponsors are the Catholic archdiocese of Washington and the Protestant Council of Churches of Greater Washington. Invitations, which are being sent to President and Mrs. Johnson, Vice President-elect and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey and 1,000 government officials and lay leaders, refer to "an ecumenical prayer service."

Recent action at the Vatican Ecumenical Council in Rome removed strictures against participation of Catholics in such interdenominational services.

Canton School Board Tradition Preserved

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Loren E. Souers Jr. was carrying on a family tradition when he was named president of the Canton school board Monday night.

Souers, a former vice president of the State Board of Education, is the son of a former local school board president, and his great grandfather, John Danner, was board president from 1855 to 1858. Souers is in the fourth year of his first term on the board.

Mr. Wayne Armstrong and Mr. Charles Cox are both medical patients in Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. John Downs of Circleville entertained at a dinner on New Year's day, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Good and Jane Ann of Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whittemore of Circleville; and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Poling and Michael of Laurelville.

Mrs. Russell Carmean and two children of Columbus, Mr. Jud Jacobs of Florida and Miss Celesta Hoy were Tuesday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Boecher of Hallsville.

Ronnie and Ed Lee Whisler, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whisler, returned to Ohio State University after spending the holidays with their parents.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — You might think that when 435 members of Congress get together in the House to do business they could, after all these years, do it in a tidy, easy, amicable way.

But they've had trouble since they started in 1789, and still have, on the simple question of how to get things done. They've made rules and then shuffled, sweated, protested, revolted, and changed the rules.

They did it again this week, and it was a very important change, by undercutting the almost unbelievable authority of their powerful, conservative Rules Committee.

And, in the process, they gave back to the House speaker a handful of power they stripped him of 55 years ago, which is pretty good evidence the House members even yet aren't sure of the best way to get things done.

To get them done at all — with all the bills, resolutions, proposals, speeches, motions, interruptions, points of order and hearings — they need rules or a kind of legislative traffic cop.

They have a bunch of rules. The Rules Committee is the traffic cop. Most of the important legislation approved by other committees is sent to the Rules Committee to decide when it should get up to floor for a vote by the full House.

But — this committee has had such authority, really life-and-death authority over the bills sent to it, that it can decide the full House should not even have a chance to vote. In effect, it could stifle any program.

But first a little history before looking at how this Rules Committee lost this vast power this week.

Within a month after the first Congress opened in 1789 it had adopted about 10 rules. By the time of the Civil War it had 150, and it added more later. There were some changes. Some rules were abolished. In time, more were added.

House — actually, about the most powerful man in government, next to the president — was the speaker. That year it was Joseph G. Cannon, Illinois Republican, known in history as "Uncle Joe."

Through the years, with all its stumbling around, the House had let the speaker accumulate this kind of power; he could appoint committees and name chairmen, which meant he could shape or block a House member's career.

And — he was chairman of the Rules Committee, which meant he decided what bill the House would be permitted to vote on and what it couldn't. In

Czech Architect Seeks Visa for Visit to America

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A Czechoslovak architect who came to India to study has requested a visa to enter the United States but it is not correct to say he is seeking asylum, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said today.

The Czech, identified only as "Novotny," was told his application will be sympathetically considered, the spokesman said. The spokesman declined to specify why the architect wants to come to the United States saying such matters are confidential.

But he pointed out that it would be possible for a Czechoslovak citizen to obtain a visa for immigration as well as a visit. Czechoslovakia's annual immigration quota is not used up, he said.

An early pioneer in paperback books was a Venetian, Aldus Manutius, who issued a pocket series of classics in 1501. Soft-cover books flourished in the 19th Century. The Tauchnitz Editions of Leipzig issued more than 5,000 English and American titles for German readers.

By James Marlow

1910 Democrats and Republicans teamed up to cut the speaker down to size.

Cannon was stripped of the various powers just mentioned and was no longer permitted to be Rules Committee chairman. All this did was let the Rules Committee set its own rules and in time it was doing its own bottling up of legislation. This power lasted until 1949.

That year there was another

revolt, and a change in rules that let any other committee chairman call up for a full House vote any piece of legislation which his group had approved but which the Rules Committee had sat on for 21 days. This change lasted only two years.

Once more a rules change. This power was taken away from committee chairmen. Once more the Rules Committee was allowed to run things pretty much as it pleased.

Since 1955, under the chairmanship of Howard W. Smith, Virginia Democrat, the highly conservative Democrats and Republicans on that committee have been a bottleneck time and again.

On Monday came the latest revolt. The House voted that if the Rules Committee held a piece of legislation 21 days, without letting it out for a vote, the speaker, using his own judgment, could order it out for a vote.

Thus, in all this twisting and turning, the House has restored to the speaker some of the power it took away from him in 1910. The present speaker, John McCormack, a Massachusetts Democrat, was all for it. Naturally, Chairman Smith of the Rules Committee wasn't.

But, as a result of all this, some of President Johnson's major legislation has a better chance of getting through the House since McCormack is on his side.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Stone of Leesburg were Sunday dinner guests of her sister, Mrs. Nell Swackhamer.

Joint Prayer Rites Are Scheduled For Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — A joint Protestant-Roman Catholic prayer service will be held here Inauguration Day.

The unique service is scheduled for the morning of Jan. 20 at St. John's Episcopal Church, across the street from the White House.

The sponsors are the Catholic archdiocese of Washington and the Protestant Council of Churches of Greater Washington. Invitations, which are being sent to President and Mrs. Johnson, Vice President-elect and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey and 1,000 government officials and lay leaders, refer to "an ecumenical prayer service."

Recent action at the Vatican Ecumenical Council in Rome removed strictures against participation of Catholics in such interdenominational services.

Canton School Board Tradition Preserved

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Loren E. Souers Jr. was carrying on a family tradition when he was named president of the Canton school board Monday night.

Souers, a former vice president of the State Board of Education, is the son of a former local school board president, and his great grandfather, John Danner, was board president from 1855 to 1858. Souers is in the fourth year of his first term on the board.

Mr. Harold Alter of Gibsonville was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Norton.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Strous were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chaney of Circleville.

Mrs. Ola Jinks and Mrs. Chester McDaniels were Tuesday overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gael Jinks of Parma.

Danny DeLong and Bruce Ebert returned Sunday to Rio Grande College after spending the Holiday with their parents.

Mr. Wendel Campbell of Fairfield, Va. spent a few days with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Kempton.

Mrs. Melvin Mettler and Mrs. Goldie Byers were Sunday supper guests of their sister, Mrs. Edith Davis of Amanda.

Mr. Wayne Armstrong and Mr. Charles Cox are both medical patients in Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. John Downs of Circleville entertained at a dinner on New Year's day, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Good and Jane Ann of Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whittemore of Circleville; and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Poling and Michael of Laurelville.

Mrs. Russell Carmean and two children of Columbus, Mr. Jud Jacobs of Florida and Miss Celesta Hoy were Tuesday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Boecher of Hallsville.

Ronnie and Ed Lee Whisler, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whisler, returned to Ohio State University after spending the holidays with their parents.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — You might think that when 435 members of Congress get together in the House to do business they could, after all these years, do it in a tidy, easy, amicable way.

But they've had trouble since they started in 1789, and still have, on the simple question of how to get things done. They've made rules and then shuffled, sweated, protested, revolted, and changed the rules.

They did it again this week, and it was a very important change, by undercutting the almost unbelievable authority of their powerful, conservative Rules Committee.

And, in the process, they gave back to the House speaker a handful of power they stripped him of 55 years ago, which is pretty good evidence the House members even yet aren't sure of the best way to get things done.

To get them done at all — with all the bills, resolutions, proposals, speeches, motions, interruptions, points of order and hearings — they need rules or a kind of legislative traffic cop.

They have a bunch of rules. The Rules Committee is the traffic cop. Most of the important legislation approved by other committees is sent to the Rules Committee to decide when it should get up to floor for a vote by the full House.

But — this committee has had such authority, really life-and-death authority over the bills sent to it, that it can decide the full House should not even have a chance to vote. In effect, it could stifle any program.

But first a little history before looking at how this Rules Committee lost this vast power this week.

Within a month after the first Congress opened in 1789 it had adopted about 10 rules. By the time of the Civil War it had 150, and it added more later. There were some changes. Some rules were abolished. In time, more were added.

By 1910 the real czar of the House — actually, about the most powerful man in government, next to the president — was the speaker. That year it was Joseph G. Cannon, Illinois Republican, known in history as "Uncle Joe."

Through the years, with all its stumbling around, the House had let the speaker accumulate this kind of power: he could appoint committees and name chairmen, which meant he could shape or block a House member's career.

And — he was chairman of the Rules Committee, which meant he decided what bill the House would be permitted to vote on and what it couldn't. In 1910 Democrats and Republicans teamed up to cut the speaker down to size.

Cannon was stripped of the various powers just mentioned and was no longer permitted to be Rules Committee chairman. All this did was let the Rules Committee set its own rules and in time it was doing its own bottling up of legislation. This power lasted until 1949.

That year there was another

revolt, and a change in rules that let any other committee chairman call up for a full House vote any piece of legislation which his group had approved but which the Rules Committee had sat on for 21 days. This change lasted only two years.

Once more a rules change. This power was taken away from committee chairmen. Once more the Rules Committee was allowed to run things pretty much as it pleased.

Since 1955, under the chairmanship of Howard W. Smith, Virginia Democrat, the highly conservative Democrats and Republicans on that committee have been a bottleneck time and again.

On Monday came the latest revolt. The House voted that if the Rules Committee held a piece of legislation 21 days, without letting it out for a vote, the speaker, using his own judgment, could order it out for a vote.

Thus, in all this twisting and turning, the House has restored to the speaker some of the power it took away from him in 1910. The present speaker, John McCormack, a Massachusetts Democrat, was all for it. Naturally, Chairman Smith of the Rules Committee wasn't.

But, as a result of all this, some of President Johnson's major legislation has a better chance of getting through the House since McCormack is on his side.

Czech Architect Seeks Visa for Visit to America

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A Czechoslovak architect who came to India to study has requested a visa to enter the United States but it is not correct to say he is seeking asylum, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said today.

The Czech, identified only as "Novotny," was told his application will be sympathetically considered, the spokesman said. The spokesman declined to specify why the architect wants to come to the United States saying such matters are confidential.

But he pointed out that it would be possible for a Czechoslovak citizen to obtain a visa for immigration as well as a visit. Czechoslovakia's annual immigration quota is not used up, he said.

An early pioneer in paperback books was a Venetian, Aldus Manutius, who issued a pocket series of classics in 1501. Softcover books flourished in the 19th century. The Tauchnitz Editions of Leipzig issued more than 5,000 English and American titles for German readers.

Carl Sandburg 87 Today, Takes Vigorous Exercise

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Carl Sandburg, the white-haired poet and Lincoln biographer, celebrated his 87th birthday today by lifting a heavy oak armchair over his head for exercise. "He spreads his feet wide apart and lifts a big, heavy oak armchair over his head three times," said Harry Golden, Sandburg's friend and biographer. "That's his exercise and he does it every day."

Golden said birthday telegrams had been sent to Sandburg's mountain home in Flat Rock, N.C., by the President, Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall, Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and "all that Chicago crowd."

President Johnson also had a gift for Sandburg. It was a color photograph, inscribed by Johnson, of the President, Sandburg and Sandburg's brother-in-law, photographer Elward Steichen.

Johnson arranged for William Friday, president of the University of North Carolina, to visit Flat Rock to present the gift to Sandburg.

Golden, who edits and publishes the Carolina Israelite, and has written several best-selling books, said his telegram to Sandburg read: "May you live to be 120, just like Moses."

Sandburg, who won a Pulitzer Prize in 1940 for his lengthy Lincoln biography and in 1951 for his "Complete Poems," has predicted that he'll die at an age divisible by 11.

"It's inevitable, it's inexorable, it's written in the book of fate," the poet told a newsman when he turned 80. "I had two great-grandfathers and a grandfather who died in years divisible by 11. If I don't die at 88, I'll go on to 99."

Golden, who visits the Sandburgs about once a month, says Sandburg still does a lot of reading and is working on the second volume of his autobiography. The first, "Always the Young Strangers" was published in 1954.

Sandburg has gradually withdrawn from public life. He shuns the telephone and his wife and two of their three daughters protect him from intruders.

"We do a lot of talking," Golden continued. "We have equal time. He talks a half hour, then I talk a half hour."

"Then we have this list of 'Americans who are not what's wrong with this country.' Sometimes we add a guy; sometimes we take a guy off. And sometimes we switch the names around."

Sandburg has been married to the former Paula Steichen, sister of Edward Steichen, for 57 years.

Ohio House Committee Chiefs Named

State Solons Due To Return to Jobs On Monday Night

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Committee assignments in the Ohio House were announced late Tuesday night in a move that cleared the way for introduction of bills in the 106th General Assembly.

House Speaker Roger W. Cloud, R-Logan, handed out the list of assignments about six hours after most of the lawmakers had ended their first legislative work week.

The Senate and House, both of which devoted the first two days of the regular biennial session to organizational matters, will return next Monday night.

There were no surprising leadership changes in the Republican lineup of 21 standing committees although six of them were given new chairmen to replace former House members.

Cloud remained at the head of the powerful rules committee and its membership remained unchanged from the 105th General Assembly except for the addition of Rep. Thomas I. Thomas, D-Summit, who replaced former Rep. Francis F. Reno, D-Lucas.

Rep. Ralph E. Fisher, R-Wayne, was kept on as chairman of the key House Finance Committee and Rep. Edmund G. James, R-Noble, was retained as the head of the judicial committee.

New committee chairmen are B. A. Broughton, R - Geauga, Education; Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Franklin, Government Operations; Rep. William C. Games, R - Adams, Highways; Rep. Jacob A. Shawan, R-Franklin, Industry and Labor; Rep. Thomas M. Herbert, R-Franklin, Interstate Cooperation, and Rep. Walter L. White, R-Allen, Taxation.

Committee assignments in the Senate are not expected to be announced by majority leader Theodore M. Gray until next week but it was learned that Sen. William H. Deddens, R-Hamilton, will be retained in the key post of chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

The 66-year-old Deddens, dean of Senate Republicans, is widely known as a determined watchdog of the state pocketbook and is credited with being a steadfast advocate of governmental economy.

Earlier Tuesday, leaders of the two houses named a 16-member committee which will represent the General Assembly in Washington Jan. 20 at the inauguration of President Johnson. The committee members—nine from the Senate and seven from the House — will make the trip at state expense.

Senators named were: Oakley C. Collins, R-Lawrence; Robert R. Shaw, R-Franklin; Oliver Ocasek, D-Summit; Anthony O. Calabrese, D-Cuyahoga; Edmund A. Sargus, D-Belmont; Francis D. Sullivan, D-Cuyahoga; Frank W. King, D-Lucas; Charles J. Carney, D-Mahoning, and Tenneyson Guyer, R-Hancock.

Memorial to JFK

SYDNEY (AP) — Sydney will soon have a permanent memorial to the late President Kennedy. It will be John F. Kennedy Place near the new Botanic Gardens' gates, and opposite the American Club. Sydney City council works committee has asked the Lord Mayor, Alderman Harry Jensen, to open a public appeal for funds to erect a statue of the late President in the area.

Chillicothe Prison Gets Another Warden

WASHINGTON (AP)—John A. Mayden, executive associate warden at the Springfield, Mo., Medical Center, has been promoted to warden of the federal reformatory at Chillicothe, Ohio. His appointment was announced Tuesday by acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach. In a series of personnel changes in the federal prison system, Olin C. Minton, now warden at the institution at Chillicothe, will be transferred to the federal correctional institution at Lompoc, Calif.

The estimate is that the present guerrilla-type infiltration by Indonesians will continue, with perhaps an increase in the tempo and number of harassing penetrations.

Malaysia has scant military strength herself, but her shield is Britain, aided by Australia and New Zealand.

The British, alarmed by the menacing actions and attitudes of Indonesian President Sukarno, have moved to strengthen their land, sea and possibly air forces in the Malaysian area.

The 16-month-old Malaysian federation — which Sukarno has promised to crush — has about 18,000-20,000 men in its regular forces.

For the most part, these Malaysian troops are infantry. They are rated well trained in jungle warfare.

Bolstering the regulars are about twice as many men in the paramilitary forces. These chiefly are police whose mission is preserving internal security.

The Malaysian navy is a collection of patrol craft, motor gunboats, minesweepers and other small vessels. The federation has virtually no combat air force.

The British and other Commonwealth forces available for Malaysia's defense number about 40,000 men. With reinforcements coming from Britain, the total is rising.

A British carrier is in the area and another is reported due to join the British Far East fleet, which uses Singapore for a main base.

All told, Britain maintains some 80 naval ships in Southeast Asian waters. These include fast destroyer types which would be death to any invading amphibious fleet of the sort Indonesia could mount.

British air power in the Malaysian area includes at least four squadrons of medium and light bombers and jet fighters capable of dealing with Indonesia's Russian-built MIGs and aging bombers.

The United States has preferred to leave to the British the responsibility for guarding Malaysia. However, if the need should arise, the mighty U.S. 7th Fleet is within calling distance.

With Soviet help, Indonesia's armed forces have been built up to an extent far outdistancing any other Southeast Asian power.

By conservative estimate, Indonesia has about 250,000 men under arms. For the most part, her army is organized at battalion level. It is deployed throughout the main Indonesian islands.

Her air force has an assortment of 100 or so MIGs, including a small number of the more modern MIG21s. Her bombers are mainly jet-powered IL28s, obsolescent medium bombers of the kind the Soviet Union sent into Cuba in 1962 and was forced to remove.

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — In the eyes of the law, the 15 children of Mr. and Mrs. W.S. Riley all belong to the same family now.

It took a king-sized adoption ceremony because nine of the children are the mother's by a previous marriage and six were born to Riley's first wife.

Except for the legal proceedings, the two families merged Oct. 3 when Riley, 43, and the former Jane Morris, 38, were married. Riley's first wife died last year. Mrs. Morris became a widow several years ago.

During a festive holiday period, each adopted the other's children Dec. 23 at a court session conducted by Dist. Judge Sam B. Hall Sr.

"Actually there were many reasons for adoption of each other's children," said Mrs. Riley. "We all felt this would be the best way to form a close family tie."

Riley is operations manager for the Thiokol Chemical Corp. near this East Texas city.

His and Mrs. Riley's children are William Jr., 20; Lyn and Lea, 19; Nancy, 17; Betty, 15; Mark, 14; Laura, 13; Mary, 12; Bill, 11; Carol, 9; Cathy and Anna, 8; Jimmy, 7; Tommy, 5, and Jeannie, 10 months.

Four bedrooms in the original Riley home weren't enough, so he built an annex for the older children, linked to the main house by a breezeway and carport. It contains three bedrooms, a bath, kitchen and sitting room.

There are two washing machines and two dryers in the laundry room. A bigger problem than getting their garments clean is that of returning each

Johnson Medals Are Readied For Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — A medal designed by sculptor Felix DeWeldon is the official souvenir of President Johnson's inauguration, by proclamation of Dale Miller, the inaugural chairman.

The medal bears a likeness of the President on one side. On the other, the presidential seal is superimposed on a map of the 50 states to signify a united country under the President's leadership.

The single gold medal struck from the design will go to Johnson himself. Cabinet members will receive the first 10 of 10,000 serially numbered silver medals, which will be sold to the public at $35, plus $3.50 excise tax, apiece. An unlimited number of bronze medals is being prepared for sale at $5 each.

Chamber Lists Committees, Preps for Annual Meeting

An outline of plans for an Annual Meeting and the naming of committee chairmen and members were on the agenda yesterday when Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce directors met for their regular January session at the Pickaway Arms.

The Annual Meeting is scheduled Jan. 21 at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building. Program Chairman Robert Call reported that Dr. Armin C. Oldsen will be guest speaker.

Dr. Oldsen is an internationally known author, lecturer and counselor on personal and family relations problems. His message will be "When Life Is in the Balance."

Committee heads and tentative members were announced by president Jack Clifton. He said additional panels will be named as the year progresses. Appointed for the present were:

AIRPORT — D. E. Goodchild (chairman), Frank Bowling Jr., Robert Litter, Fiske O'Hara, Ray Sifford and William Stout.

AGRI-BUSINESS — Earl Palm (chairman), Frank Bowling, Dale DeLong, Dr. H. W. Fraas, George Hamrick and Paul Smallwood.

AREA DEVELOPMENT — Dale DeLong (chairman), E.G. Grigg, T. David Harmon, Eldred Parsons, Paul Smallwood and L. D. Varble.

CITY - COUNTY PLANNING — Richard Penn (chairman), John Fissell, Leslie Hines, George Hritz, Robert Keatley and Jack White.

CONGRESSIONAL ACTION — G. Nide Lawson (chairman), Dan Crabtree, Robert Huffer, Dr. V. D. Kerns, Fiske O'Hara, E. F. Owens, Kenneth Robbins and Charles Wellman.

EDUCATION — A. D. Bray (chairman), R. L. Brehmer Jr., Dan Crabtree, Fritz Jacobs, David McDonald, George McDowell, William Rackett and Paul Smallwood.

Boyd Stout (chairman), Orley Bosworth, Charles Currett, Paul Smallwood, William Stout and Mrs. E. R. Bennett.

RETAIL MERCHANTS — F. E. Thomerson (chairman), Charles Boggs, George Griebel, Charles Schieber, Paul Smallwood and Romaine Wilson.

SAFETY AND HEALTH — Charles Wellman (chairman), Charles Brackett, Ernie Lindsey, Dr. Robert Phillips, Dr. Richard Samuel, Richard Shaw and Keith Wagner.

WELCOME AND MEMBERSHIP — Dr. David Goldschmidt (chairman), Julius Gordon, Bob Miller, Earl Palm, Charles Schieber and David Yates.

President Clifton, vice president Earl Palm and secretary, Mrs. Bennett reported on a successful Home Decoration contest conducted by the Chamber during the Christmas holidays. John Hill of the Jaycees extended appreciation to local merchants for their cooperation in making the appearance of Santa Claus an outstanding venture.

Dr. Goldschmidt, heading the Chamber's membership committee, outlined operational plans for his group. His program received unanimous approval from the directors.

Alden Bray, education committee chairman, reported on progress leading to Education - Business - Industry Day which will be observed in February. His panel will meet this week for additional planning phases.

Forrest Thomerson, retail merchants chairman, announced that Charles Boggs will direct this year's annual "Side-walk Sales" event, scheduled in July.

"I do that for a couple of weeks and then I get a week off. So it isn't tough doing the show at all."

Why did he pull up his stakes here to live in the northland?

"Actually I'm here more than I used to be when I had a house in town," he said. "But I moved up north for a little quieter living. The city is getting bigger all the time — a little too big for me."

"I like it up north. I can drive downtown in a few minutes and walk around and get to know the storekeepers — yes, the innkeepers, too. It's nice to feel that you are part of a community."

"We have lots of friends up there, mostly people I had known before we moved up. It's easy to drive up to San Francisco. We go to the opera a couple of times a year, and Kathryn likes the ballet. There are plenty of dinners and parties; in fact, you have to be careful or you could be going out every night."

"Golf? There's a course right near our house. So we really don't lack for anything."

Bing Crosby Denies He Has Changed in 40 Years

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bing Crosby, who seldom gets ruffled at anything, evidenced a brief irritation over a recent magazine story that said he had mellowed after years of being a difficult star.

"Hell, I haven't changed in 40 years," he muttered.

His claim seemed true as he rolled about the stage of "The Bing Crosby Show," tossing quips to members of the cast and crew. His face was lean and unlined, his manner remained in the affable Crosby image. At 60 he presents the figure of a man content with his life and work.

Bing now lives and works in different worlds. He and his wife Kathryn and their three young children make their home at Burlingame, on the peninsula south of San Francisco.

"The system has worked out very well," he explained. "I fly down here on a jet Monday morning and I fly back on Friday afternoon. I live near the airport, so that's no problem. The flight takes 45-50 minutes. It's just like commuting from Long Island to Manhattan."

Fayette Commissioner Dies at Age of 54
WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Death has taken 54-year-old E. Marilyn Riley who began a second term on the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Tuesday. He died the same day in Fayette Memorial Hospital after a lengthy illness.

When two sons of Joseph Sullivan, 94, went to a funeral parlor here a week ago to pay their last respects, they found the body of Daniel Sullivan, 73, in the coffin, dressed in their father's clothes.

That led to disclosure here a mixup resulted in the cremation of the wrong body.

Joseph Sullivan was to have been buried in the veterans' section of a local cemetery. Daniel Sullivan was to have been cremated.

Both men, not related, died in Shaughnessy Veteran's Hospital a few days earlier.

"There was no mistake made at Shaughnessy hospital," said its assistant supervisor, Dr. C. C. Covert. "The right body was released to the right people."

"It was not," said A. W. Francis, director of Simmons McBride Funeral Chapel.

"We have to go to a hospital to get a body," said Francis. "We don't know what body it is. They give us the body. We have to sign out for the body and the orderly on duty releases the body and gives us a death certificate. We got the right death certificate in his case."

"It was not," said A. W. Francis, director of Simmons McBride Funeral Chapel.

"We have to go to a hospital to get a body," said Francis. "We don't know what body it is. They give us the body. We have to sign out for the body and the orderly on duty releases the body and gives us a death certificate. We got the right death certificate in his case."

Francis said the Memorial Society of British Columbia, another mortuary, "went up to Shaughnessy first and the orderly released the wrong body."

"There is no record of either pickup," a Memorial Society spokesman relied. "So how do Simmons McBride know who got picked up first?"

Relatives of Joseph Sullivan said today they were undecided what to do about the mixup.

Fayette Commissioner Dies at Age of 54
WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Death has taken 54-year-old E. Marilyn Riley who began a second term on the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Tuesday. He died the same day in Fayette Memorial Hospital after a lengthy illness.

When two sons of Joseph Sullivan, 94, went to a funeral parlor here a week ago to pay their last respects, they found the body of Daniel Sullivan, 73, in the coffin, dressed in their father's clothes.

That led to disclosure here a mixup resulted in the cremation of the wrong body.

Joseph Sullivan was to have been buried in the veterans' section of a local cemetery. Daniel Sullivan was to have been cremated.

Both men, not related, died in Shaughnessy Veteran's Hospital a few days earlier.

"There was no mistake made at Shaughnessy hospital," said its assistant supervisor, Dr. C. C. Covert. "The right body was released to the right people."

Circleville Cagers Return To Action at Washington

The Circleville High School cage team moves back into action this week after a 21-day respite from the hardwood warfare by traveling to Washington C. H. Friday and hosting Franklin Heights Saturday.

The Tigers, with a 2-1 league record to date, badly need a win on the Blue Lion's floor to stay in contention for the South Central Ohio League crown.

They are now in a three-way deadlock for second place, sharing the position with Wilmington and Washington C. H. Miami Trace, undefeated in league play, remains in first. Greenfield, McClain and Hillsboro, both with three losses, are last.

None of the top four teams in the league can be counted out of the race at this time.

ONE of the key tilts in loop action Friday pits Wilmington against the visiting Miami Trace cagers. A win for the Hurricanes could throw the top spot in the league into a three-way knot.

Test Car Crash Kills Bill Wade

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Veteran race driver Bill Wade, earning some between-race money driving a test car, was killed Tuesday when a front tire blew at 170 miles an hour.

Wade, of Spartanburg, S.C., was killed instantly when his 1964 Mercury crashed into the retaining wall on the west turn at the Daytona International Speedway. He was the only driver on the track.

The 34-year-old driver was just coming into his own in NASCAR competition after driving everything from jalopies to sprint cars.

Wade won four NASCAR races in a row last year and was fourth in the 1964 standings.

Crisler Urges Snub of Scouts

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Fritz Crisler, the University of Michigan's athletic director, says the only thing the colleges can do to prevent the premature signing of football players to professional contracts is to refuse to cooperate with the pro scouts.

University officials around the nation are up in arms about being caught in the talent-hunting crossfire between the National and the American Football Leagues.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has scheduled a special meeting in Chicago next week to discuss the situation, specifically the premature signing to pro contracts of four Oklahoma stars and one from Georgia.

Big Ten scoring in football last season was led by Bob Timberlake, Michigan quarterback. He scored 67 points. It was the highest total since 1943 when the late Tony Butkovich of Purdue tallied 78 points in four games.

SWEET VICTORY—A junior at Southern University, Theron Lewis holds his trophy after winning the 400-meter event in the Sugar Bowl track meet in New Orleans, opened to Negroes for the first time this year. Lewis turned in a 46.9 effort to beat the old time of 47.1.

Overall, Circleville has won three games while losing four. The Tigers dropped the first two tilts to a pair of tough Central Ohio League Teams, Chillicothe and Lancaster.

But they rebounded against Wilmington to post a 61-53 win on the Hurricane floor—becoming the first CHS cage team in recent history to post a victory at Wilmington.

Teays Valley, currently the lone area five that is undefeated edged the Red and Black cagers in a close 56-52 battle.

Hillsboro fell to the Tigers, 75-67, and the Reynoldsburg became the victim of one of the best performances Circleville has put together this season.

In the last appearance, Miami Trace maintained its jinx over the local quintet by posting a 60-54 win. Circleville has never beaten a Trace team since the school entered South Central Ohio League competition.

TEAMWORK and balanced scoring have been the key to Circleville wins this season. The leading scorer has been John Thomas, whose 116 total points give him an average of 16.5 per game.

Chet Iery is right behind Thomas with a total of 111 points for a 15.9 point per game average.

In the SCO, the two Tigers rank second and third respectively in scoring, while the Blue Lions have the league's leading scorer in Gary Knisely.

Another cager who is averaging in the double figures for Circleville is John Maxwell with 84 markers in the seven games for 12 per tilt.

Tim Stonerock, a sophomore who has cracked the starting lineup for the Tigers, has proven himself a capable scoring threat. His best game was a 16 point effort against Reynoldsburg.

Chet Iery's 26 points in the opening game against Chillicothe is the best single scoring effort for any CHS cager this season.

ROUNDING out the Circleville starting quintet is Doug Roth, at 6-4 the tallest Tiger.

Ronnie Seward and Doug Price provide the bulk of the bench strength for Circleville.

Neither Circleville nor Washington C. H. has played a game since mid-December.

The other league action on tap for Friday pits the two cellar dwellers, Greenfield and Hillsboro.

LOOKING FOR PASSING GRADE—Two of the nation's top quarterbacks, Steve Tensi (left) of Florida State, and Joe Namath of Alabama, will be on the South squad in the annual Senior Bowl game in Mobile, Ala., January 9. The two discuss passing here before the game. Namath recently signed with the New York Jets for a reported $389,000 for three years and Tensi has signed with San Diego Chargers.

THIS WAS ANOTHER DAY—Frank Lane (left) and Charles O. Finley were a bit happier when this picture was taken after Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, hired Lane as his general manager. Today the two are battling in Chicago court where a jury is hearing Lane's $144,166 breach of contract suit against Finley. Lane charges he was fired in August, 1961, although his contract had more than seven years to run.

NCAA, AAU Heading for Fresh Clash

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union are heading for an all-out fight in the coming indoor track season for control of amateur athletics in this country.

It's highly doubtful the 59th annual NCAA convention Jan. 8-14 in Chicago will do anything to bring the NCAA and AAU closer to agreement. An amendment putting teeth into NCAA policy backing the U.S. Track and Field Federation is likely to be approved. Schools violating the policy would be subject to the same penalties now imposed for recruiting violations.

This would strengthen the chief weapon of the NCAA and the federation in the fight. That weapon is the boycott. The USTFF is confident that by withholding college and high school track stars it will hurt the indoor meets, which are the chief money-makers for the AAU.

The AAU, however, thinks it already holds the trump card. That card is its control of international sanctioning. The International Amateur Athletic Federation (IAAF) recognizes the AAU as the sole governing body for amateur track in the United States. No American athlete, in or out of college, can compete in the Olympics or other international events without AAU action.

Dayton Flyers Lose Leading Cage Scorer

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Three University of Dayton basketball players, including 6-foot-6 junior Henry Burlong, were ruled ineligible for academic reasons today.

Burlong, who has scored 137 points and pulled down 95 rebounds in 10 games, was ruled ineligible for the 1964-65 season along with sophomore forward Lou Bok of Wapakoneta and guard Wayne Taubken of Cincinnati. The three will remain in school.

Citadel Proves Cage Surprise

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Citadel Bulldogs, usually considered the league doormats, are turning out to be the surprise basketball team in the Southern Conference.

The Cadets from Charleston, S.C., who once went through an entire season without a victory against collegiate competition, whipped William and Mary 70-64 Tuesday night. It was the fifth conference triumph in six starts for the Cadets. Their only league setback was a one-point defeat by Virginia Military Monday night.

Jim McCurdy of Avalon, Pa., Clem Hartley of Portsmouth, Ohio, Dick Martini of Passaic, N.J., and Herwig Baumann of Dayton, Ohio, starred as the Cadets finished a stretch of seven straight road games with an over-all 9-3 mark for the season.

McCurdy got a key basket in the second half while Baumann scored 17 points and Hartley and Martini 16 each.

Needless to say, Coach Mel Thompson of Richmond, Ind., and The Citadel president, Gen. Mark W. Clark, are happy and looking ahead to next week's home game against 10th-ranked Davidson.

George Washington, one of The Citadel's victims, almost upset St. John's of New York in Washington Tuesday night. The Colonials lost in overtime 72-70 to the seventh-ranked Redmen, who whipped Michigan last Saturday in the final of the Holiday Festival in New York.

St. John's won on a tip-in by Henry Cluess with only four seconds left in the extra period. Mark Clark's 24 points for the Colonials was high for both teams. He scored 20 of them after the halftime intermission including the goal that forced the game overtime at 64-64. Just before Cluess' winning basket Clark had flipped in two free throws to tie the score.

The sixth-ranked Duke Blue Devils, beaten only by Michigan, won their seventh straight by routing Penn State 121-88 at Durham. Jack Marin scored 29 points and Bob Verga 24 as the Blue Devils set a team scoring record. Bob Weiss threw in 38 points for the Nitanny Lions.

Duke and St. John's were the only teams in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action.

Clyde Lee, Vanderbilt's 6-foot-9 junior, tossed in 41 points on 15 field goals and 11 free throws to lead the Commodores to a 97-79 triumph over Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference. It was a decisive road triumph for the Commodores now 10-2 for the season.

Unbeaten Central (Ohio) State recorded its eighth straight triumph by overpowering Kentucky State 70-53.

The host Thorobreds held a slim 6-35 lead at intermission but went cold and hit only six of 26 floor shots.

Kenneth Wilburn led the victors with 20 points and 18 rebounds.

In other games involving Ohio schools on a light schedule, Cedarville rang up its 11th victory against one reversal by stopping Ashland 64-50 and Gannon College trounced Walsh, 79-59.

Dozier Carter tallied 17 to pace Cedarville to the Mid-Ohio Conference triumph. The Yellow-jackets now are 2-0 in the league while Ashland stands 1-1.

Walsh, which fell to 2-6, got 30 points from Nick Pallotta in a losing effort.

HOW ABOUT THAT, CASS?—Signed for a heavyweight "title" bout in Chicago March 5 are Ernie Terrell (left) of Chicago and Eddie Machen. The World Boxing Association, which stripped Cassius Clay of his title and ignores Clay and Sonny Liston in its ratings, has designated this one as for the "title." Terrell has 36-4 record while Machen's is 46-5-2.

STILL SCORING HIGH—A three-touchdown scorer in the NFL title game in Cleveland, Gary Collins, star end, scored again as he is on the receiving end of a 1965 Corvette presented by Sport magazine in New York. Collins led the Cleveland Browns to a 27-0 win over Baltimore for the crown.

An amendment putting teeth into NCAA policy backing the U.S. Track and Field Federation is likely to be approved. Schools violating the policy would be subject to the same penalties now imposed for recruiting violations.

This would strengthen the chief weapon of the NCAA and the federation in the fight. That weapon is the boycott. The USTFF is confident that by withholding college and high school track stars it will hurt the indoor meets, which are the chief money-makers for the AAU.

The AAU, however, thinks it already holds the trump card. That card is its control of international sanctioning. The International Amateur Athletic Federation (IAAF) recognizes the AAU as the sole governing body for amateur track in the United States. No American athlete, in or out of college, can compete in the Olympics or other international events without AAU action.

Dayton Flyers Lose Leading Cage Scorer

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Three University of Dayton basketball players, including 6-foot-6 junior Henry Burlong, were ruled ineligible for academic reasons today.

Burlong, who has scored 137 points and pulled down 95 rebounds in 10 games, was ruled ineligible for the 1964-65 season along with sophomore forward Lou Bok of Wapakoneta and guard Wayne Taubken of Cincinnati. The three will remain in school.

Citadel Proves Cage Surprise

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Citadel Bulldogs, usually considered the league doormats, are turning out to be the surprise basketball team in the Southern Conference.

The Cadets from Charleston, S.C., who once went through an entire season without a victory against collegiate competition, whipped William and Mary 70-64 Tuesday night. It was the fifth conference triumph in six starts for the Cadets. Their only league setback was a one-point defeat by Virginia Military Monday night.

Jim McCurdy of Avalon, Pa., Clem Hartley of Portsmouth, Ohio, Dick Martini of Passaic, N.J., and Herwig Baumann of Dayton, Ohio, starred as the Cadets finished a stretch of seven straight road games with an over-all 9-3 mark for the season. McCurdy got a key basket in the second half while Baumann scored 17 points and Hartley and Martini 16 each.

Needless to say, Coach Mel Thompson of Richmond, Ind., and The Citadel president, Gen. Mark W. Clark, are happy and looking ahead to next week's home game against 10th-ranked Davidson.

George Washington, one of The Citadel's victims, almost upset St. John's of New York in Washington Tuesday night. The Colonials lost in overtime 72-70 to the seventh-ranked Redmen, who whipped Michigan last Saturday in the final of the Holiday Festival in New York.

St. John's won on a tip-in by Henry Cluess with only four seconds left in the extra period. Mark Clark's 24 points for the Colonials was high for both teams. He scored 20 of them after the halftime intermission.

including the goal that forced the game overtime at 64-64. Just before Cluess' winning basket Clark had flipped in two free throws to tie the score.

The sixth-ranked Duke Blue Devils, beaten only by Michigan, won their seventh straight by routing Penn State 121-88 at Durham. Jack Marin scored 29 points and Bob Verga 24 as the Blue Devils set a team scoring record. Bob Weiss threw in 38 points for the Nittany Lions.

Duke and St. John's were the only teams in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action.

Clyde Lee, Vanderbilt's 6-foot-9 junior, tossed in 41 points on 15 field goals and 11 free throws to lead the Commodores to a 97-79 triumph over Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference. It was a decisive road triumph for the Commodores now 10-2 for the season.

Unbeaten Central (Ohio) State recorded its eighth straight triumph by overpowering Kentucky State 70-53.

The host Thorobreds held a slim 6-35 lead at intermission but went cold and hit only six of 26 floor shots.

Kenneth Wilburn led the victors with 20 points and 18 rebounds.

In other games involving Ohio schools on a light schedule, Cedarville rang up its 11th victory against one reversal by stopping Ashland 64-50 and Gannon College trounced Walsh, 79-59.

Dozier Carter tallied 17 to pace Cedarville to the Mid-Ohio Conference triumph. The Yellow-jackets now are 2-0 in the league while Ashland stands 1-1.

Walsh, which fell to 2-6, got 30 points from Nick Pallotta in a losing effort.

HOW ABOUT THAT, CASS?—Signed for a heavyweight "title" bout in Chicago March 5 are Ernie Terrell (left) of Chicago and Eddie Machen. The World Boxing Association, which stripped Cassius Clay of his title and ignores Clay and Sonny Liston in its ratings, has designated this one as for the "title." Terrell has 36-4 record while Machen's is 46-5-2.

STILL SCORING HIGH—A three-touchdown scorer in the NFL title game in Cleveland, Gary Collins, star end, scored again as he is on the receiving end of a 1965 Corvette presented by Sport magazine in New York. Collins led the Cleveland Browns to a 27-0 win over Baltimore for the crown.

ICE FISHING TIPS

USE A SIMPLE TIP-UP AS SHOWN IN THE DRAWING. THE CROSSPIECE THAT STRETCHES OVER THE HOLE SHOULD BE LONG ENOUGH SO THAT FISH WILL NOT DRAG IT INTO WATER.

TO MAKE AN ICE-FISHING SPUD, USE AN IRON PIPE 1 1/2 INCHES IN DIAMETER AND 6 FEET LONG FOR THE HANDLE. DRILL HOLE AT TOP, TIE A STOUT CORD THROUGH THIS, AND THEN FASTEN THE OTHER END TO YOUR BELT. THIS PREVENTS THE LOSS OF SPUD. AT THE BUSINESS END OF HANDLE ADD SHARPENED CHISEL-BLADE.

A KITCHEN STRAINER CAN BE USED TO REMOVE CHIPPED ICE FROM HOLE.

SLOPE THE EDGES OF ICE HOLE AT BOTTOM. YOU MAY HAVE DIFFICULTY HAULING FISH THROUGH HOLE THAT IS TO SMALL.

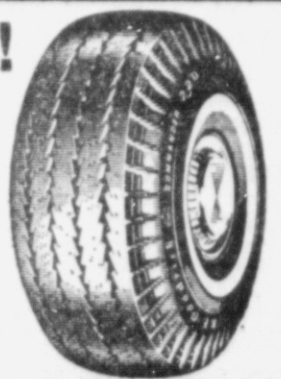

A NOTE OF WARNING, DON'T ATTEMPT TO WALK UPON FROZEN LAKE WITH 3 INCHES OF ICE. IT IS UNSAFE.

NEW YORK (AP) — The decision to drop the first atomic bomb on Japan may have been as narrator Chet Huntley said Tuesday night, the "most important decision of our time." After almost 20 years, it is still debatable.

NBC, in one of its occasional "White Paper" programs, devoted 90 minutes to the circumstances surrounding the decision ultimately made by President Harry S. Truman. The story was told primarily by persons close to the development of that terrible weapon — with the notable exception of Truman himself.

From James F. Byrnes who was secretary of state and McGeorge Bundy, biographer of Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and from Gen. Leslie Groves, who directed the top-secret development of the weapon, we heard repeatedly that the decision was made completely on the grounds that it would end the war quickly, thus saving American lives.

"We knew, of course, the world would not be the same," said Dr. Robert Oppenheimer.

So the bomb was dropped, over 100,000 Japanese died and, indeed, the world was not the same. Men continue to argue whether it really had to be done. The unanswered question that gnawed the viewer was whether these men, if they had to make such a decision again, would make the same choice.

The three networks were preoccupied Tuesday with the television numbers game. The new national Nielsen ratings were out, covering the two-week period ending Dec. 20.

This time CBS forged ahead with a tiny lead: a 19.5 rating for the two-week period. NBC was second with 19.1. ABC trailed with 18.4.

The three most popular programs remain NBC's "Bonanza," ABC's "Bewitched," and CBS' "Gomer Pyle" in that order.

Others in the top 10 are CBS' "Andy Griffith Show," "Dick Van Dyke Show," "Red Skelton Show," "Jackie Gleason Show," "The Lucy Show," ABC's Thursday night edition of "Peyton Place," and CBS' "Ed Sullivan Show."

Recommended tonight: "The Patty Duke Show," ABC, 8-8:30 p.m. EST —with Frank Sinatra Jr. making his acting debut, "The Danny Kaye Show," CBS, 10-11, with Peter Falk and Dorothy Collins.

Pair Buys Control of Senator '9'

WASHINGTON (AP) — James M. Johnston and James H. Lemon have poured an undisclosed amount — perhaps $2 million — into the Washington Senators and now own the American League team, lock, stock and barrel.

In the four years they have existed since the Griffith family moved the old Washington franchise to Minnesota, the Senators have finished last three times and next to last in 1964. They also have been financial losers.

Johnston and Lemon were among the first 10 stockholders when the new Senators were organized in 1961.

Two years ago, along with George M. Bunker, president of the Martin Marietta Co., they bought out five of the other stockholders to take voting control.

At the time, the stockholders rejected a $5-million offer for the club from Bill Veech, former top executive at Chicago, St. Louis and Cleveland, and Nate Dolin of Cleveland. They said they wanted the team to continue under local ownership.

Tuesday, they bought out Bunker and the other remaining stockholder, auto dealer Floyd Akers.

Royals Mar Debut of Knick Pilot

NEW YORK (AP) — "And now, ladies and gentlemen, we'd like to re-introduce to you an all-time New York favorite, the new coach of the Knickerbockers — Harry Gallatin."

The Madison Square Garden crowd burst into applause at the announcement and the tall, blond one-time National Basketball Association iron man waved an appreciative hand. Harry Gallatin was back home where he belonged.

"It's just great to be back," said Gallatin as he took over the reins of the club which once was a playoff perennial but has finished in the NBA's Eastern Division cellar for the last five years.

The Knicks tried mightily to make Gallatin's debut a success and very nearly beat the Cincinnati Royals — a trick New York had not managed in over a year. But the Royals, sparked by Oscar Robertson's 37 points, 10 in overtime, beat the Knicks 125-116. In the opener of the doubleheader, St. Louis edged Detroit 109-108.

Senate Leaders To Delay Showdown on Tie-Breaker

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Senate leaders said today they will postpone as long as possible a showdown on Lt. Gov. John W. Brown's power to break tie votes on legislation under a new law.

Floor leaders Theodore M. Gray, R-Miami, and Frank W. King, D-Lucas, appear in accord on that strategy in the evenly-divided Senate, although not entirely for the same reasons.

King, who also is president of the Ohio AFL-CIO, opposes any tie-breaker test because he asserts the new law enacted by the recent special session is unconstitutional.

But he concedes that Democrats might feel obliged to set up a test if Republicans refuse to go along on what King's party considers even bargaining. "I hope that at least in major areas we can come to agreement," Gray says. "The needs of the people will be met."

But if a hostile situation develops on the floor, the statute should be tested, Gray asserts. The new law requires the lieutenant governor, who presides over Senate sessions, to break tie votes on legislation and other matters in the upper chamber.

Majority Republicans rammed the statute through the special session while they held control because the Senate in the 106th General Assembly, convening this week, is split 16-16 between the two parties, with 17 votes needed to pass legislation.

Brown, a Republican, holds the deciding vote in case of a tie. He has said he would vote on the first legislative tie that arises, although the new law does not take effect until March 29.

Democrats never have challenged Brown's right to break ties on Senate business matters but they insist his vote on legislation would be unconstitutional. Republicans maintain the lieutenant governor always has had authority to break ties on legislation without attempting to use it. They described the new law as merely for clarification, pending a court test.

Gray was elected Senate majority leader at the opening session. Brown had no chance to break a tie because one Democratic senator was absent. Out-numbered Democrats went along with Republicans to elect Gray 31-0.

King indicated the same strategy would be followed if necessary to prevent a tie from arising on legislation.

He discounted effectiveness of a "call of the Senate" rule requiring senators to remain in the chamber and the sergeant-at-arms to round up absent members with the help of the Highway Patrol or other authorities to get a vote.

"I recognize," he said, "that we are not in position to put through an affirmative program. But we are in position to prevent them from putting through their complete program."

"If we both recognize that," he continued, "we can get the kind of job done that ought to be done."

California Faces More Flooding

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Northern California's rampaging rivers — fed by new torrential rainstorms and melting mountain snows — again are threatening dozens of communities, including areas hardest hit by the disastrous Christmas week deluge.

Army helicopters Tuesday evacuated nearly 200 persons living in two areas near the swollen Eel and Mad rivers as flood stages approached. Air Force helicopters dropped feed to thousands of starving sheep on barren floodlands south of Eureka, Calif., center for flood relief operations.

A howling rainstorm, driven in some places by a whole gale of more than 60 miles an hour, battered the northern half of the state Tuesday. Eureka and Red Bluff recorded more than an inch of precipitation in a few hours.

Both areas immediately menaced are on the coast 250 miles north of San Francisco. The warning to evacuate was sounded by Norman Robertson, Humboldt County Civil Defense director.

New flooding finds California still reeling from the devastation wrought by the floods that started Dec. 20, which spread a billion dollars in property damage and caused more than 40 deaths in five Western states. Hit besides California were Oregon, Nevada, Washington and Idaho.

This time, California alone is taking the brunt of a low-pressure area anchored off Washington. Rains, in decreasing amounts, are expected to continue through Thursday.

None of the other Western states report any flood danger, although two inches of rain fell Tuesday on the Oregon coast.

The threat to Blue Lake, population 700, lessened Tuesday night as flood workers succeeded in reinforcing a catchment cable above the Ruth Dam. The cable holds back floating logs and debris which can act as battering rams against the dam.

The Eel, wildest of the waterways that wrought the Christmas week flooding, was expected to crest at 21 feet early today. Once again it could put under water the many small logging towns south of Eureka. Thousands of residents of these places had barely begun to dig out the tons of silt from their former homesites.

The Russian River, which overflowed in the last flood and inundated a swath of land seven miles wide 60 miles north of San Francisco, was expected to go over flood stage today, again hitting the major resort of Guerneville and other resort settlements up and down the river.

Ohio Man Is Honored For Heroism

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Hamilton, Ohio man who rescued a pilot from his burning airplane was one of 26 persons cited for heroism Tuesday by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

Roy E. Halsey, a 33-year-old accounting supervisor from Hamilton, received a bronze medal and a cash benefit for his heroism.

He was a passenger in a plane piloted by Robert B. Turrell, 35, of Middletown, Ohio, that crashed on take-off Feb. 7, 1963, in Middletown and burst into flames.

Halsey, slightly injured, ran from the plane but noticed that Turrell was still inside.

Disregarding flames from one of the burning 40-gallon fuel tanks that surrounded Turrell, Halsey dashed inside the aircraft, beat out the flames on Turrell's coat and pulled him out of the cabin.

No Increase In '65 Social Security Rate

"There has been no increase in the social security tax rate for employees, employers, and the self-employed for 1965," Alton E. Swanson, district manager of social security in Chillicothe, stated today.

The rate continues at 3% per cent of an individual's annual earnings up to $4800 for employer and employee alike, and 5.4 per cent on net earnings up to that amount for the self-employed, he said.

Swanson explained that he was stressing this point at this time because in some sections of the country questions were being asked at social security offices about "the new tax rate for 1965," with the inquirers asserting that they had read about a change in rate in certain business publications.

"The source of many of the misconceptions has been traced to several privately produced leaflets outlining a number of proposed amendments to the social security law which were considered by Congress in 1964 but not enacted. The leaflets were sent out in sample lots to prospective bulk purchasers while the legislation was still under consideration.

"The failure of the legislation to pass the Congress should have ended all interest in these publications, and in most cases it did. However, at several widely scattered locations these leaflets, which mentioned a proposed social security tax increase for 1965, were understood to mean that the proposed changes had been made. This was evidently why people began asking for more details," he said.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—All but some northern sections of Ohio had relatively warm temperatures under cloudy skies during the night.

Temperatures at daybreak included Marietta 63, Cincinnati 35, Columbus and Dayton 33, Toledo 28 and Cleveland 26.

Temperatures today were expected to reach the upper 30s and low 40s, with readings Thursday in the 50s.

Income Tax Service Offered

Robert Jackson, administrative officer of the Internal Revenue Service in Lancaster, announced today that the Lancaster office located at 201 S. Broad St., will be prepared to assist taxpayers with their current tax questions beginning Friday.

Personnel will be available on Fridays through April 9, during the hours of 8:15 a.m. to noon and from 1-4:30 p.m. Assistance will also be offered during these hours on Thursday, April 15.

Jackson asked taxpayers requesting assistance in the preparation of their returns to prepare as much of their return as possible before coming to the office and not to wait until the last minute for filing and seeking assistance.

News of World in Brief

SITKA, Alaska (AP) — Fire hydrants were unworkable today in this Alaska Panhandle town. Volunteer firemen were told to keep hands off until a prolonged cold snap ends, even if there's a fire.

Chief Robert Barden, who issued the order Tuesday, said the whole water system might freeze up because of lower pressure if the hydrants are used.

Temperatures have been just a few degrees above zero for days.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's here: the talking traffic signal. "Don't walk" and "walk" it said Tuesday to county officials at an intersection in a southwest Los Angeles district. They agreed it performed well.

A built-in tape recorder provides amplified instructions to match those given by an electric sign which reads "Don't walk" and "Walk." "Don't walk" goes on when there isn't time left to cross the street on the green light.

RENO, Nev. (AP) — June may be the big month for brides elsewhere, but August is the big wedding month in Reno, where weddings are big business.

The county clerk's office says it issued more marriage licenses, 2,526, during August than any other month of last year.

Divorces last year totaled 4,741, compared with 4,366 in 1963. August also was the high month for divorce, with 571.

HOBBART, Australia (AP) — Lee Quinn, the San Francisco sailor who prefers girls for his crew aboard the yacht Neophyte, says he'll leave Hobart soon for Antarctica, with only a girl and a cat aboard.

Quinn arrived in Hobart last week with a crew of three Australian girls, but they have left the yacht.

The sailor said he thinks Barbara Sody, 28, who has sailed with him before, will make the antarctic cruise with him. Miss Sody is expected to arrive within a few days from her home in Chicago.

TORONTO (AP) — Rudolf Nureyev, star of London's Royal Ballet, won 19 curtain calls Tuesday night after he substituted for Erik Bruhn in a performance with the National Ballet of Canada.

Nureyev had only two days to prepare for the role which he never had danced before in public.

Bruhn injured a knee in a performance last Friday.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian government today postponed the Feb. 15 elections in Kerala State — a Communist stronghold — for two weeks.

The postponement was recommended by Gov. V. V. Giri, who feared violence might erupt as a result of the recent roundup of pro-Peking Communists. Giri said time was needed for the atmosphere to calm down.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's government on Dec. 30 arrested more than 700 Communists throughout India and ordered them held without trial.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Another stage of Israel's diversion of the Jordan River to irrigate the Negev Desert has been completed.

Water from the Sea of Galilee, through which the river flows, started pouring into an artificial lake at Beit Netufa Tuesday, shortly after a sluice gate was lifted into place.

Much of next summer's irrigation waters will pass through the lake and a pipeline to the Negev, but it will be years before the system can be used to full capacity because of the water's high salt content, a spokesman said.

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Fourteen persons have been killed and 50 injured in political violence which continues in the wake of Pakistan's presidential election.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was reimposed in Liaquatabad and two other Karachi suburbs, scenes of rioting between supporters of the two political parties.

Karachi schools and colleges, scheduled to open today after being closed because of riots in early December, were asked by the government to remain closed indefinitely.

NEW YORK (AP) — Designer John Moore, who gave Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson final fittings for her inaugural wardrobe, said she "has a nice little size 10 figure and absolutely no problems," the New York Herald Tribune said today.

"She really is a very small woman, much smaller than you realize," Moore said.

Mrs. Johnson flew into New York Tuesday morning and flew back to Washington in the afternoon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says the more than 23 million man-days lost through strikes last year—although "better than the post-war average"—were the most since 1959.

Strikes last year, the department said Tuesday, involved 1.6 million workers, about 650,000 more than in 1963. Nearly one-third of the lost time occurred in the auto industry.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said Tuesday after a one-hour meeting with President Johnson that he certainly will stay on the job at the United Nations through the current General Assembly session but "beyond that I cannot say."

Stevenson said he and Johnson had not discussed how long he would keep the post, to which he was appointed four years ago by President John F. Kennedy.

Circleville Elks To Host District Ritualistic Contest

Circleville Elks Lodge is preparing to play host to the annual South Central District ritualistic contest Jan. 16-17.

The event supervised by the Past Exalted Rulers Assn. of the Ohio Elks Assn., will be part of the district's winter business meeting. It will draw delegates from the 14 lodges within the jurisdiction.

Leo Morgan, a Circleville past exalted ruler, is district activities chairman and will preside over the business sessions.

Harry H. Stoops of Portsmouth is district ritualistic committee chairman. Virgil Search of Chillicothe, representing the Grand Lodge, is district deputy grand exalted ruler and will preside over one clinic.

THE RITUALISTIC contest will run continually during Saturday evening, Jan. 16, and Sunday morning, Jan. 17.

The host lodge's corps of officers will be first to face the judges, being scheduled to take the floor at 5 p.m. Jan. 16. They will be followed by performances by lodge teams from Jackson, Newark, Lancaster, Chillicothe and Columbus.

Chillicothe is the defending district ritualistic champion, having edged Circleville last year by a fraction of a percentage point. However, four of the seven all-district team members were Circleville entrants.

The three judges who will determine this year's district champion are: Gene Pracht of Lima, Robert Kennedy of Dover and Cecil Rappe of Modoc, Ind. Robert Gass of Jackson will be official computer. Results of the judging will be announced Sunday evening.

Delegates are expected to start arriving in Circleville about Saturday noon. The lodge will hold a "welcome" cocktail hour at 5 p.m. followed by a dinner at 6. A dance will wind up the evening's social activities at 9 p.m.

Sunday's calendar calls for brunch at 8:30 a.m., a conference for lodge secretaries and club managers at 9:30, district advisory board meeting at 10, district executive board conference at 11 and the district deputy's clinic at 11:30.

A SPECIAL entertainment period for ladies will be held at 2 p.m. At the same time, district delegates will be in a business session under Morgan's chairmanship.

A buffet is scheduled for 5 p.m. It is at this hour that ritualistic scores will be announced along with the awarding of all-district individual honors.

Dr. William Rickey, exalted ruler of Circleville lodge, has announced that Dr. David Goldschmidt will be general chairman for local arrangements.

He will be assisted by: James Grant, reservations; Forrest Webster, registration; James McCoskey, Saturday night dance chairman; and Gene Lindsey, food service coordinator.

For the first time in Circleville history, all meals served will be catered under Lindsey's supervision.

Local officers said that the $1.50 registration fee will cover the cocktail hour, dance and Sunday buffet. The Saturday night dinner and the Sunday brunch will carry extra charges.

'Gold King' Haussermann Is 97, Now in Hospital

CINCINNATI (AP)—John W. Haussermann, former assistant attorney general and "Gold King" of the Philippines, was reported resting easily and in good spirits today at Holmes Hospital.

Haussermann, who observed his 97th birthday on Dec. 14, became ill Monday night after dinner at his palatial home in New Richmond, a sleepy Ohio River village 20 miles east of here. He was rushed to the hospital.

Miss Jean Gordon, his secretary since World War II days, said doctors are trying to diagnose Haussermann's illness.

Born at New Richmond, Haussermann put himself through law school at Cincinnati and in 1898 went to the Philippines as a lieutenant with the 20th Kansas Volunteers. He stayed in the islands for more than 40 years.

After the Spanish-American war ended, Haussermann wrote Manila's first city charter and in 1902 became assistant attorney general of the islands. Later he entered private practice and a legal fee in stock in an almost-bankrupt mine—Benguet—got him started in gold mining.

He built Benguet into an enterprise that just before World War II employed 13,000 persons and produced $15 million worth of gold yearly in addition to quantities of chromium. The company was a pioneer in providing good living conditions for its Filipino employees.

Haussermann and his wife Jean happened to be in the United States on a business trip when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, and they did not get back to the Philippines until after World War II.

Benguet was ruined, but Haussermann managed to raise $8 million to start operations again. The company began expanding into silver and copper mining in 1957, and later started drilling for oil.

In recent years, he has lived quietly at his 41-room mansion outside New Richmond which will become a cerebral palsy research center after his death. He retired as president of Benguet in 1962.

California Faces More Flooding

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Northern California's rampaging rivers — fed by new torrential rainstorms and melting mountain snows — again are threatening dozens of communities, including areas hardest hit by the disastrous Christmas week deluge.

Army helicopters Tuesday evacuated nearly 200 persons living in two areas near the swollen Eel and Mad rivers as flood stages approached. Air Force helicopters dropped feed to thousands of starving sheep on barren floodlands south of Eureka, Calif., center for flood relief operations.

A howling rainstorm, driven in some places by a whole gale of more than 60 miles an hour, battered the northern half of the state Tuesday. Eureka and Red Bluff recorded more than an inch of precipitation in a few hours.

Both areas immediately menaced are on the coast 250 miles north of San Francisco. The warning to evacuate was sounded by Norman Robertson,

'QUAKE CRACKS CHIMNEY—Two stones knocked from her chimney by the most severe earthquake to hit the West Coast in a decade are held by Mrs. Evelyn Dahms in San Diego, Calif.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—All but some northern sections of Ohio had relatively warm temperatures under cloudy skies during the night.

Temperatures at daybreak included Marietta 63, Cincinnati 35, Columbus and Dayton 33, Toledo 28 and Cleveland 26.

Temperatures today were expected to reach the upper 30s and low 40s, with readings Thursday in the 50s.

Income Tax Service Offered

Robert Jackson, administrative officer of the Internal Revenue Service in Lancaster, announced today that the Lancaster office located at 201 S. Broad St., will be prepared to assist taxpayers with their current tax questions beginning Friday.

Personnel will be available on Fridays through April 9, during the hours of 8:15 a.m. to noon and from 1:45 p.m. Assistance will also be offered during these hours on Thursday, April 15.

Jackson asked taxpayers requesting assistance in the preparation of their returns to prepare as much of their return as possible before coming to the office and not to wait until the last minute for filing and seeking assistance.

New flooding finds California still reeling from the devastation wrought by the floods that started Dec. 20, which spread a billion dollars in property damage and caused more than 40 deaths in five Western states. Hit besides California were Oregon, Nevada, Washington and Idaho.

This time, California alone is taking the brunt of a low-pressure area anchored off Washington. Rains, in decreasing amounts, are expected to continue through Thursday.

None of the other Western states report any flood danger, although two inches of rain fell Tuesday on the Oregon coast.

News of World in Brief

SITKA, Alaska (AP) — Fire hydrants were untouchable today in this Alaska Panhandle town. Volunteer firemen were told to keep hands off until a prolonged cold snap ends, even if there's a fire.

Chief Robert Barden, who issued the order Tuesday, said the whole water system might freeze up because of lower pressure if the hydrants are used.

Large tanks borrowed from the Standard Oil Co. have been mounted on city trucks and filled with water for emergency use by fire rigs.

Temperatures have been just a few degrees above zero for days.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's here: the talking traffic signal. "Don't walk" and "walk" it said Tuesday to county officials at an intersection in a southwest Los Angeles district. They agreed it performed well.

A built-in tape recorder provides amplified instructions to match those given by an electric sign which reads "Don't walk" and "Walk." "Don't walk" goes on when there isn't time left to cross the street on the green light.

RENO, Nev. (AP) — June may be the big month for brides elsewhere, but August is the big wedding month in Reno, where weddings are big business.

The county clerk's office says it issued more marriage licenses, 2,526, during August than any other month of last year.

Divorces last year totaled 4,741, compared with 4,366 in 1963. August also was the high month for divorce, with 571.

HOBBART, Australia (AP) — Lee Quinn, the San Francisco sailor who prefers girls for his crew aboard the yacht Neophyte, says he'll leave Hobart soon for Antarctica, with only a girl and a cat aboard.

Quinn arrived in Hobart last week with a crew of three Australian girls, but they have left the yacht.

The sailor said he thinks Barbara Sody, 28, who has sailed with him before, will make the antarctic cruise with him. Miss Sody is expected to arrive within a few days from her home in Chicago.

TORONTO (AP) — Rudolf Nureyev, star of London's Royal Ballet, won 19 curtain calls Tuesday night after he substituted for Erik Bruhn in a performance with the National Ballet of Canada.

Nureyev had only two days to prepare for the role which he never had danced before in public.

Bruhn injured a knee in a performance last Friday.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian government today postponed the Feb. 15 elections in Kerala State — a Communist stronghold — for two weeks.

The postponement was recommended by Gov. V. V. Giri, who feared violence might erupt as a result of the recent roundup of pro-Peking Communists. Giri said time was needed for the atmosphere to calm down.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's government on Dec. 30 arrested more than 700 Communists throughout India and ordered them held without trial.

Disaster authorities warned more than 1,000 residents of the Eel delta and the nearby town of Blue Lake to prepare to flee their homes.

The threat to Blue Lake, population 700, lessened Tuesday night as flood workers succeeded in reinforcing a catchment cable above the Ruth Dam. The cable holds back floating logs and debris which can act as battering rams against the dam.

The Eel, wildest of the waterways that wrought the Christmas week flooding, was expected to crest at 21 feet early today. Once again it could put under water the many small logging towns south of Eureka.

Thousands of residents of these places had barely begun to dig out the tons of silt from their former homesites.

The Russian River, which overflowed in the last flood and inundated a swath of land seven miles wide 60 miles north of San Francisco, was expected to go over flood stage today, again hitting the major resort of Guerneville and other resort settlements up and down the river.

Ohio Man Is Honored For Heroism

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Hamilton, Ohio man who rescued a pilot from his burning airplane was one of 26 persons cited for heroism Tuesday by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

Roy E. Halsey, a 33-year-old accounting supervisor from Hamilton, received a bronze medal and a cash benefit for his heroism.

He was a passenger in a plane piloted by Robert B. Turrell, 35, of Middletown, Ohio, that crashed on take-off Feb. 7, 1963, in Middletown and burst into flames.

Halsey, slightly injured, ran from the plane but noticed that Turrell was still inside.

Disregarding flames from one of the burning 40-gallon fuel tanks that surrounded Turrell, Halsey dashed inside the aircraft, beat out the flames on Turrell's coat and pulled him out of the cabin.

No Increase In '65 Social Security Rate

"There has been no increase in the social security tax rate for employees, employers, and the self-employed for 1965," Alton E. Swanson, district manager of social security in Chillicothe, stated today.

The rate continues at 3% percent of an individual's annual earnings up to $4800 for employer and employee alike, and 5.4 percent on net earnings up to that amount for the self-employed, he said.

Swanson explained that he was stressing this point at this time because in some sections of the country questions were being asked at social security offices about "the new tax rate for 1965," with the inquirers asserting that they had read about a change in rate in certain business publications.

"The source of many of the misconceptions has been traced to several privately produced leaflets outlining a number of proposed amendments to the social security law which were considered by Congress in 1964 but not enacted. The leaflets were sent out in sample lots to prospective bulk purchasers while the legislation was still under consideration.

"The failure of the legislation to pass the Congress should have ended all interest in these publications, and in most cases it did. However, at several widely-scattered locations these leaflets, which mentioned a proposed social security tax increase for 1965, were understood to mean that the proposed changes had been made. This was evidently why people began asking for more details," he said.

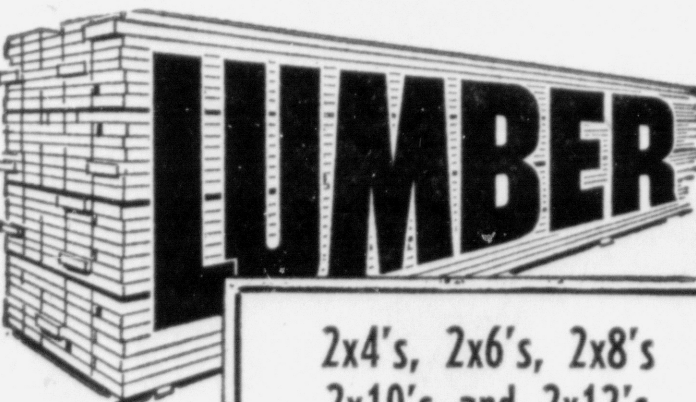

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says the more than 23 million man-days lost through strikes last year—although "better than the post-war average"—were the most since 1959.

Strikes last year, the department said Tuesday, involved 1.6 million workers, about 650,000 more than in 1963. Nearly one-third of the lost time occurred in the auto industry.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said Tuesday after a one-hour meeting with President Johnson that he certainly will stay on the job at the United Nations through the current General Assembly session but "beyond that I cannot say."

Stevenson said he and Johnson had not discussed how long he would keep the post, to which he was appointed four years ago by President John F. Kennedy.

Circleville Elks To Host District Ritualistic Contest

Circleville Elks Lodge is preparing to play host to the annual South Central District ritualistic contest Jan. 16-17.

The event supervised by the Past Exalted Rulers Assn. of the Ohio Elks Assn., will be part of the district's winter business meeting. It will draw delegates from the 14 lodges within the jurisdiction.

Leo Morgan, a Circleville past exalted ruler, is district activities chairman and will preside over the business sessions.

Harry H. Stoops of Portsmouth is district ritualistic committee chairman. Virgil Search of Chillicothe, representing the Grand Lodge, is district deputy grand exalted ruler and will preside over one clinic.

THE RITUALISTIC contest will run continually during Saturday evening, Jan. 16, and Sunday morning, Jan. 17.

The host lodge's corps of officers will be first to face the judges, being scheduled to take the floor at 5 p.m. Jan. 16. They will be followed by performances by lodge teams from Jackson, Newark, Lancaster, Chillicothe and Columbus.
